PREFACE

THIS volume is the result of an attempt to put into convenient form and the smallest possible compass all the grammar needed by ordinary students of Italian. Short as the book is, it contains some paragraphs which beginners will probably skip: the longer lists of words and endings and a great part of the chapters on suffixes and irregular verbs will be useful mainly for reference. While endeavoring to make my work represent primarily the language as it is spoken and written at the present day, I have tried to give also as many obsolete forms as readers of the poets will require.

It has been my aim throughout to make the rules clear for all classes of pupils, even for those ignorant of other foreign languages, provided they understand the technical words commonly used in grammars. With this object in view, I have ascribed to the Italian vowels the pronunciation of the English ones that are nearest to them; an accurate description of the Italian sounds would, I fear, prove confusing to beginners who have had no training in phonetics. It will be easy for the instructor to explain not only the vowels, but some of the consonants, and the division of words into syllables, much better than can be done in a book like this.

The authorities I have consulted most are the dictionaries of Fanfani, Rigutini and Fanfani, Fornari (Nuovo Bazzarini), and Tommaseo and Bellini. I have made but little use of other grammars; I am, however, indebted to Toscani for some ideas and a few of my examples. The chapters on syntax, and the treatment of irregular verbs, pronouns, suffixes, and the plural of words in -co and -go are almost entirely the result of original work.

*indgent's
cher* In conclusion, I wish to express my gratitude to Professor Nash, of Harvard, to my friend and teacher, Cav. Filippo Orlando, of Florence, and to the gentlemen who assisted me in correcting the proof-sheets; and I wish above all to thank Professor Sheldon, of Harvard, and Professor Bendelari, of Yale, without whose aid and encouragement I should scarcely have ventured to offer this book to the public.

CAMBRIDGE, September, 1887.

NOTE TO THE REVISED EDITION

So thoroughly has the old Grammar been overhauled by Professor Wilkins and me that it now presents itself almost as a new book. The original Italian texts and bits of English prose for translation have disappeared; and in place of the set of Lessons and Exercises added to the book in 1904, Professor Wilkins has furnished a fresh series, better and more abundant than the matter it supplants. A careful revision of the rules and examples has resulted in some improvement of the former and many additions to the latter. Use has been made of the system of grammatical nomenclature recently recommended by the American committee entrusted with the study of that subject. Not least among the advantages of this edition is the marked gain in typographical clearness.

ITALIAN GRAMMAR

PRONUNCIATION

1. The Italian alphabet has the same letters as the English, except that k, w, x, and y do not occur in native words in modern Italian.

2. The Italians distinguish seven vowels: a, close e, open e, i, close o, open o, u; to these may be added an intermediate e and o, used in unaccented syllables. Every vowel has a clear sound, no matter what may be its position in the word. It is never obscured; and it never tends, as do the English long vowels, to become a diphthong.

Italian vowels are all pronounced rather quickly; hence there is but little difference in quantity between accented and unaccented sounds. English-speaking students must carefully avoid drawling the accented and slighting the unaccented syllables; they should try to give to every Italian vowel about the length of i in 'bitter.'

a is nearly like a in 'father': as fava, canna, cassa, palla.

e close is nearly like a in 'fate': as beve, vere, stelle, messe.

e open may be formed by trying to pronounce e in 'bell' with the mouth very wide open: as bella, amena, fera, pensa.

i is nearly like ee in 'feet': as miri, vini, fissi, spilli.

o close is nearly like o in 'mope': as dopo, dove, bollo, sotto.

o open is nearly like aw in 'saw' pronounced with the mouth wide open: as no, odi, poi, donna.

u is nearly like oo in 'boot': as una, cura, nulla, ruppi.

(a) The letters i and u are sometimes used to represent consonant sounds (see 4); but in formulating rules they are always counted as vowels.

3. As close and open vowels are not distinguished in spelling, some rules are necessary:

1. Unaccented e and o are intermediate between close and open: as mare, sea; amo, I love.

2. e and o are close in all monosyllables¹ ending in a consonant: as con, with; non, not; per, for.

3. In monosyllables¹ and oxytones² ending in a vowel, final e is close, final o is open: as che, what; me, me; re, king; credè, he believed; perchè, why; do, I give; Po, Po; sarò, I shall be; andò, he went.

EXCEPTIONS: (a) Final e is open in è=is, re=re, interjections (as aimè, alas; chè, nonsense), proper names (as Noè, Noah), and foreign words (as caffè, coffee). (b) Final o is close in lo and o.

4. Accented e and o are always open in the groups ie and uo: as *piede, foot; fuoco, fire. e and o standing for ie and uo are open: as ven=viene, he comes; cor=cuore, heart.

5. In words that have always formed a part of the spoken language, accented e is nearly always close when it represents Latin ē or ĭ, open when it represents Latin ě or ae; accented o is nearly always close when it represents Latin ō or ŭ, open when it represents Latin ǒ or au. In book words accented e and o are usually open.

In all cases not covered by the first three rules, the quality of e and o will be marked in this book, an acute accent (') denoting the close, a circumflex (^) the open sound: as *avére, to have; *méno, less; *tiéne, he holds; *liéto, happy; *poêta, poet; *óra, hour; *mólto, much; *buôno, good; *pôco, little; *môto, motion.

4. B, f, m, p, q, v are pronounced as in English.

c, before e or i, sounds like ch in 'chin'; elsewhere it is always like English k: as cima, top; cóme, how; dólce, sweet.

¹ Not including shortened forms of words that regularly have more than one syllable.

² Words accented on the last syllable.

g, before e or i, sounds like g in 'gem'; elsewhere it is always like g in 'go': as gatto, cat; gênte, people; spingi, push.

(à) A cc or a gg before e or i has merely the sound of ch in 'chin' or g in 'gem' prolonged: as facce, faces; légge, law.

d, l, n, t are pronounced further forward in the mouth than in English; the tip of the tongue should touch the back of the upper front teeth: as alto, high; dato, given; luna, moon; nudo, naked; tuôno, thunder.

h is always silent: as ahi, oh! ha, he has.

i, unaccented, before a vowel, sounds like English y: as iêri, yesterday; paio, pair; più, more. In the groups cia, cio, ciu, gia, gio, giu, an unaccented i serves only to show that the c or g is soft: as faccia, face; guancia, cheek; ciò, that; giù, down; mangia, eat; raggio, ray.

j is merely another way of writing i.

n before a q or a hard c or g has the sound of English ng: as banca (bang-ka), bank; dunque (dung-kwe), therefore; lungo (lung-go), long.

r is always rolled, the point of the tongue vibrating against the teeth: as caro, dear; rósso, red; per, for. When r is double or followed by a consonant, the trill is prolonged: as carro, cart; burro, butter; marróne, chestnut; carne, meat; pôrta, door.

s is generally pronounced nearly like English s in 'see,' but with a somewhat sharper sound: as sò, I know; spillo, pin.

Initial s before a sonant (b, d, g, l, m, n, r, v) has a sound intermediate between s and English z: as sdrucchiolare, to slip; slitta, sleigh.

A single s between vowels has, in most words, the sound of English z: as caso, case; cáusa, cause; viso, face. But in the following cases it is pronounced like s in 'see,' 'mason':

(a) In annusare, ásino, casa, Chiusi, côsa, così, desidêrio, nasò, parasito, péso, Pisa, pisêllo, pôsa, ripôso, riso, susina, and their derivatives, and in some uncommon words.

(b) After the prefixes de-, di-,¹ pre-, pro-, re-, ri-, tra-¹: as desístere, diségno, presúmere, proseguire, reservare, risòlvere, trasudare.

(c) In the adjective ending -óso and the adjective and substantive ending -ése: as noióso, troublesome; inglése, English; mése, month. But in cortése, francése, lucchése, marchése, paése, palése, the s is like English z.

(d) In the past absolute and past participle of chiêdere, chiúdere, nascóndere, pórre, rádere, rídere, rimanére, rispóndere, ródere, and all verbs in -êndere; and in their compounds and derivatives: as chiêsi, socchiuso, nascóse, rispósero, rasóio, rimase, corrispósi, rósero, accési, rése, scésa.

EXCEPTIONS to this rule are derídere, verbs in -clúdere, and derivatives of ródere.

u, unaccented, before a vowel, sounds like English w: as buôno, good; guardare, to look; può, he can.

z and zz are generally pronounced like a long and vigorous ts: as alzare, to lift; azióne, action; prèzzo, price; zío, uncle.

In the following cases, however, z and zz sound like a prolonged dz:

(a) In azzurro, dozzina, mêzzo, pranzo, ribrézzo, romanzo, zêlo, and many less common words.

(b) In verbs in -izzare (as utilizzare, to utilize); except attizzare, dirizzare, guizzare, rizzare, stizzare, and their compounds, and a few uncommon words.

5. The following combinations are to be noted:

ch (used only before e and i) is always like English k: as fichi (plural of fico, fig). sch is like sk: as schérzo, sport.

gh (used only before e and i) is always like English g in 'go': as aghi (plural cf ago, needle).

gli (written gl if the following vowel be i) is nearly like English lli in 'million': as figlio, son; figli, sons.

But in Ánglia, geroglífico, glicerina, negligere and its derivatives, and a few uncommon words borrowed from the Greek or Latin, gl is like English gl.

gn is nearly like ni in 'onion': as ógni, every.

qu is always like kw: as quésto, this.

sc before e and i is nearly like sh in 'ship': as uscire, to go out.

Before all other letters it is pronounced sk: as scuôla, school; schérno, contempt.

6. Every letter in Italian is distinctly and separately sounded; the only exceptions are h, silent i (see 4), and the combinations mentioned in 5.

arte, art.

furto, theft.

vêrso, toward.

andái, I went.

áura, breeze.

bugíe, lies.

Eurôpa, Europe.

miêi, my.

paúra, fear.

sentíi, I felt.

nói, we.

pôi, then.

suôi, his.

Where a double consonant is written, both letters must be sounded, the first at the end of the preceding, the second at the beginning of the following syllable:

anno, year.

mêssô, put.

babbo, father.

quéllo, that.

fatto, done.

bócca, mouth.

For rr, zz, and soft cc and gg, see 4.

1, m, n, and r, when preceded by an accented vowel and followed by another consonant, are prolonged:

alto (all-to), high.

sêmpre (sêmm-pre), always.

tanto (tann-to), so much.

parte (parr-te), part.

7. The accent is nearly always the same as in Latin. In this book it will always be noted. Of the signs written here, students need use only the grave (`), which is placed on the last syllable of oxytones and on some monosyllables; Italian writers do not agree as to the use of the other marks; many now use the acute, and not the grave, on final e.

8. Italian words are divided in such a way that, if possible, every syllable shall begin with a consonant:

ta-vo-lí-no, table.

frat-tán-to, meanwhile.

al-l' uô-mo, to the man.

nar-rá-re, to relate.

mêz-zo, half.

các-cia, hunt.

ôg-gi, to-day.

po-ê-ta, poet.

In the groups s+consonant, consonant+r, those mentioned in 5, and cl, fl, gl, pl, both consonants belong to the following syllable. i=y and u=w go with the following vowel; ái, áu, ei, eu, oi are not separated.

fê-sta te-á-tro

a-vrò

bi-só-gno

ca-stí-ghi

del-l' ác-qua

in-chiô-stro mi-glió-re

ri-flêt-te-re

miêi

al-l' áu-ra tuôî

ADDITIONAL NOTES ON PRONUNCIATION

[The numbers prefixed to the following notes refer to the paragraphs of the foregoing chapter.]

1. The Tuscan names of the letters are:

a	é	i	ênne	êrre	vu or vi
bi	êffe	jé or i lúngo	ô	êsse	zêta (with z pronounced dz)
ci	gi	êlle	pi	ti
di	ácca	êmme	cu	u

They do not change in the plural. Their gender is not fixed; in general those ending in -a or -e are considered as feminine, the others as masculine. K, x, y are cáppa, íccase, ípsilon, all masculine.

2. (a) The sounds á, ê, ô, followed by a single consonant, are somewhat longer than the other vowels: for instance, in dáto, fêro, ôvo the accented a, e, o are longer than in dáttero, vêro, ôve. Final accented vowels sound particularly short: as in amô, beltâ, caffè.

(b) In forming i the mouth should be made as broad as possible from side to side. For u and ô the lips should be puckered. For a and ê the mouth should be opened very wide.

3. (a) If an adverb in -mênte is formed from an adjective containing ê or ô, this vowel has, in the adverb, a secondary accent, and retains its open sound: as (brêve) brêvemênte, briefly; (nôbile) nôbilmênte, nobly. Furthermore, ê and ô retain their quality in seeming compounds that consist, in reality, of two or more separate words: as tostochê = tôstoché = tôsto che, as soon as.

(b) Past absolute forms and past participles in -esi, -eso, -osi, -oso have a close e or o; except chiêsi (also chiési), esplôsi, esplôso, lêso.

(c) In the suffixes -eccio (-a), -esco (-a), -ese, -essa, -etto (-a), -ezzo (-a), -mente, and -mento the e is always close; while in the diminutive suffix -ello (-a), and in the endings -ente, -enza, -erio (or -ero), and -esimo (-a) it is open: as inglêse, English; probabilmênte, probably; prudênte, prudent; ventêsim^o, twentieth.

(d) In the endings -oio, -one, -ore, and in the suffix -oso (-a) the o is close; while in the ending -orio, and in -occio (-a), -otto (-a), and -ozzo (-a), used as suffixes to nouns or adjectives, it is open: as vassôio, tray; amôre, love; romitôrio, hermitage; casôtta, good-sized house.

(e) In the following cases accented e or o may have either the close or the open sound: in Giorgio, maestra, maestro, nego (from negâre), neve, organo, scendere, senza, siete and sono (from ês-sere), spegnere, Stefano, vendere; and in the past future endings -esti, -emmo, -este. The present subjunctive forms dîeno, sîeno, stîeno are pronounced also diêno, siêno, stiêno.

(f) In poetry we often find ê for iê, ô for uô: as vên=viêne, he comes; côr=cuôre, heart. Simple ô for uô is very common in modern spoken Tuscan: as bôno=buôno, good; nôvo=nuôvo, new.

4. c. (a) Between two vowels, of which the second is e or i, single c and single g are, in ordinary Tuscan speech, pronounced respectively like sh in 'ship' and si in 'vision': as pâce, peace; stagión^e, season.

(b) Between two vowels, of which the second is a, o, or u, a single c or a q is, in popular Tuscan speech, sounded nearly like English h: as poco (pôho), little; di questa cosa (di hwêsta hôsa), cf this thing. This pronunciation is regarded as inelegant.

j. Some writers use j, except after a consonant, for the i that is pronounced y: as jeri for iêri, yesterday; pajo for páio, pair. It is sometimes used also for final i in the plural of words in unaccented -io: as specchj (also specchî and occasionally specchii) for spêcchi, mirrors, plural of spêcchio.

z. Aside from verbs in -izzâre, z and zz have the value dz in the following words and their derivatives:

arzillo	frizzo	magazzino	românzo	zêlo
azzúrro	garzône	mânzo	ronzfo	zenît
barzellétta	gazzêlla	mêzzo	rôzzo	zêro
bizza	gazzétta	orizzônte	zaffîro	zêta
brézza	gônzo	ôrzo	zâffrône	zîncò
brônzo	Lâzzaro	pênzolo	zanzâra	zodíaco
donzêlla	lazzérétto	prânzo	zêbra	zôlla
dozzîna	lâzzo	ribrézzo	zêffîro	zôna

also in all derivatives of the Greek zoos, and in many uncommon words.

5. In pronouncing gli and gn the point of the tongue should remain behind the lower teeth: as figlio, son; ôgni, every.

6. If one of the words mentioned below, or any oxytone ending in a vowel, is closely followed by a word beginning with a consonant, this consonant is, in Tuscany, generally pronounced double. The words are:¹

a	dî, day	giù	o ⁴	sôpra che	di', say	ha	più	sta ² chi	e	ho	qua	sto
ciò	è	infra	qualche	su
côme	fa ³	intra	qui	te ³
côntra	fè, faith	là	re	tra
da	fe'=fêce	lì	sa	tre
dà, gives	fo	ma	se, if	tu da', give	fra	me ³	sè	va ²
do	fu	mo'=môdo	sì	vo=vâdo
dôve	già	nè	so	vo'=vôglio

¹ The materials for this list were taken from D'Ovidio's article in Gröber's Grundriß der romanischen Philologie, I, p. 496 (2d ed., p. 644).

² Both the imperative sing. and the pres. ind. third sing.

³ The disjunctive form.

⁴ Both the conjunction or and the interrogative particle.

verrà da me dománi (verráddamméddománi), he will come to my house to-morrow. In such cases c is, of course, never pronounced like h (see 4, c, (b)).

INFLECTIONS OF THE VOICE

1. Italian speech is at once smoother and less monotonous than American: it is less interrupted by breathings, and it has far greater variations of pitch. In order to speak or read Italian well, an American must learn to breathe in speaking as he does in singing; he must inhale deeply at the beginning of the clause, and not stop again until he reaches the end of it. The following directions may be of use; they are based on the Tuscan pronunciation, and particularly on that of Siena.

2. (a) The simplest inflection in a declarative sentence is as follows: at the beginning the voice is pitched low; it rises in the middle (in earnest conversation often to a falsetto), and falls again at the end. The most emphatic word generally receives the highest tone; if there are no words after it to complete the cadence, the first words of the phrase are often repeated at the end: as me lo dicono tútti me lo dicono, they all tell me so, where the u of tútti is an octave higher than the beginning and the close of the sentence.

(b) When there is a pause on some not particularly emphatic word before the main verb, that word has a slight circumflex accent, the voice rising about one semitone and falling about three: as fuôri di città ^ c' è úna bellíssima vîlla \, outside the city there's a beautiful villa, where bellíssima has the high pitch, and the a of città has the circumflex. This accent is generally heard whenever modifying clauses or phrases precede the main clause.

(c) Almost all declarative sentences are made up chiefly of these two inflections, the long rise and fall and the short circumflex. Americans must avoid breaking up their sentences by meaningless falling tones. The fall occurs in Italian, as in English, on a very emphatic word, and at the end of a sentence. It is used, also, with a verb of saying or thinking, followed by a direct quotation; and with any word or phrase used as a vocative, except in loud calling (see 4, b): as allóra chiáma Alfrédo e gli díce\: Bambíno\, dímmi la verità, where the syllables fre, bam, and dim have the highest pitch.

3. (a) Questions to which the answer may be 'yes' or 'no' have either one of two circumflex accents: in the first the voice rises about five semitones and falls one; in the second, which is sometimes used in reading and in polite phrases, the voice rises and falls about an octave. Ex.: l'hái vísto? have you seen him? where the pitches of l' hái, vi, and sto may be represented by the notes do, fa, mi; ha bèn dormíto? did you sleep well? where mi is an octave higher than dor and to. The former accent may be heard in the Irish pronunciation of English.

(b) These inflections are nearly always confined to the last few syllables of the sentence. In some questions, however, they appear twice, generally occurring first on the verb; and occasionally the circumflex on the verb is the only one.

(c) Questions that cannot be answered by 'yes' or 'no' usually begin high, the pitch depending on the emphasis. The voice then falls, but generally rises again at the last syllable, going up about three semitones: as o cóme\ hái fáto\? how did you do it? This accent is common among the Irish, and may be heard in England. The final rise is, however, often omitted, especially in very short sentences and in polite phrases: as cóme sta\? how do you do?

4. (a) Exclamations of surprise begin very high, and sink rapidly: as sénti\! no! un affár di niênte\! *you don't say so!*¹ where un has the main stress; per mío bácco! *I want to know!*¹ with the accent on per.

(b) In calling to persons at a distance, the Tuscans sing rather than speak; the usual tune is do, la, sol, the accented syllable being highest: as Agostína! Augustine! partênza! all aboard!

11. Feminine:

Sing. la, pl. le.

12. When the definite article is preceded by one of the prepositions di, da, a, in, con, su, per, the article and preposition are generally contracted into one word, as shown in the following table (con, per are often uncontracted¹):

¹ That is, s followed by another consonant.

su, on	sul	súi or su'	súllo	súgli	súlla	súlle	sull'
per, for	pel	péi or pe'	per lo	per gli	per la	per le	per l' del pádre, of the father.

per gli uômini, for the men.

(a) The word some is frequently rendered in Italian by di with the definite article. This is called the partitive construction.

Dátemi del vino.

Give me some wine.

Délle bèle còse.

Some fine things.

13. In the following cases the definite article is used in Italian, though not in English:

(a) Before the possessive adjectives:

Il nôstro giardíno.

Our garden.

I suói fratèlli.

His brothers.

When, however, the possessive qualifies an otherwise unmodified noun in the singular expressing relationship, the article is generally omitted: as mía mádre, my mother. For a fuller statement, see 45, a.

¹ Some writers, especially poets, prefer to keep other prepositions separate from the article.

(b) Before an abstract noun or one denoting a whole class; but not before one designating a part of a class:

L' uômo propône.	Man proposes (i.e., all mankind).
I fiôri nâscono dal sême.	Flowers spring from the seed (i.e., all flowers).

La môrte è il peggiôre déi máli.	Death is the worst of evils (i.e., death in general, and all evils).
----------------------------------	---

BUT

Il mío giardíno è tútto fioríto; rôse, gígli, viðe mán-dano un odóre soáve.	My garden is all in flower; roses, lilies, violets send forth a sweet fragrance (i.e., some roses, etc.).
---	--

(c) Before a noun and adjective used either in a specific or in a general (but not in a partitive) sense:

L' áнно scórso.	Last year (i.e., the last year).
Il pôvero Luígi non viðe.	(The) poor Lewis doesn't come.
Gli uômini buôni.	Good men (i.e., all good men).

BUT

Hô trováto dappertútto uômini buôni.	I have found (some) good men everywhere.
--------------------------------------	---

(d) Before a title followed by a proper name:

La regína Vittôria.	Queen Victoria.
Il signór Brúni.	Mr. Brown.

It is not used, however, before Don, Messêr, and Ser.

(e) Before family names; often before familiar given names of women; occasionally before familiar given names of men:

Il Biáncchi è môrto.	White is dead.
La Pátti cánta.	Patti sings.
Conósco l' Olívia.	I know Olivia.
Viêne il Tònio.	Tony is coming.

(f) Before names of provinces, countries, and continents:

la Toscána, Tuscany.	all' Itália, to Italy.
la Svízzera, Switzerland.	per l' Eurôpa, for Europe.

But the article is omitted after in in phrases that denote going to or dwelling in a country; and often after di or in when the preposition with the name of a country is equivalent to an adjective of nationality:

Vádo in Germánia.

Rimángo in Fráncia.

La régina d' Inghiltèrra.

Il víno di Spáña.

Il teátro in Itália.

I go to Germany.

I remain in France.

The queen of England (i.e., the English queen).

The wine of Spain (i.e., Spanish wine).

The drama in Italy (i.e., the Italian drama).

The article is not used regularly with names of cities: as vedrémo Róma, we shall see Rome. La Spêzia, however, has the article; and so have a few others.

In all the above cases (beginning with 13, a) the article, unless it would be employed in English, is omitted when the noun is used as a vocative or is modified by a numeral or a pronominal adjective. It is often omitted in lists.

Signóra Mónti, cóme sta?

Itália, ti rivédo.

Viêni, amíco mío.

Dúe bellíssimi cáni.

Quésta súa ôpera.

Ha parécchi vízi.

Féde, speránza, carità.

Mrs. Monti, how do you do?

Italy, I see thee again.

Come, my friend.

Two very fine dogs.

This work of his.

He has several bad habits.

Faith, hope, and charity.

THE INDEFINITE ARTICLE

14. Masculine:

(a) Un before a vowel or any consonant except s impure and z.

(b) Uno before s impure or z.¹

un pádre, a father.

Note that masculine un before a vowel has no apostrophe.

15. Feminine:

Úna, which becomes un' before a vowel.

16. In the following cases the indefinite article, though expressed in English, is omitted in Italian:

(a) Before a predicate noun expressing occupation, condition, rank, or nationality, and not accompanied by an adjective.

Égli è poêta, he is a poet.

Sóno marchése, I am a marquis.

Siête italiáno, you are an Italian.

È mêdico, he is a doctor.

(b) Generally before an antecedent (of a relative clause) used in apposition to a preceding noun modified by a definite article or a demonstrative pronoun.

L' Árno, fiúme che travêrsa Firênze.

The Arno, a river which traverses Florence.

(c) After da meaning as, like, or for. See 79, g.

Da uômo.

Like a man.

NOUNS

17. Italian nouns are not declined. Possession is denoted by the preposition di:

Lo spêcchio di mío pádre.

My father's looking-glass.

GENDER

18. There are no neuter nouns in Italian.¹

Nouns denoting males and females keep their natural gender; except creatúra, creature; guída, guide; guárdia,

guard; persóna, person; sentinêlla, sentinel; spía, spy; staf-fétta, courier; vedétta, scout; which are feminine.

il fratêllo, the brother.

úna spía, a spy.

mía sorêlla, my sister.

la poetêssa, the poetess.

la nôstra guída, our guide.

19. Of nouns denoting objects without sex some are masculine, some feminine. Their gender can often be determined by the final letter. All Italian nouns end in -a, -e, -i, -o, or -u.¹

(a) Those ending in -a are feminine; except colêra, cholera; qual-côsa, something; Greek neuters in -ma,² many geographical names, and a few other words, mostly foreign.

un' óra, an hour.

il Canadà, Canada.

un telegrámma, a telegram.

il sofà, the sofa.

(b) Of those ending in -e and -i some are masculine, some feminine. All ending in -zióne, -gióne, or -údi-ne are feminine.

il fúme, the river.

la ragióne, the reason.

úna metrôpoli, a metropolis.

la servitúdi-ne, service.

(c) Those ending in -o are masculine; except máno, hand.

il ginôcchio, the knee.

la máno, the hand.

(d) Those ending in -u are feminine; except soprappiù, surplus, and a few foreign words.

20. Any other part of speech (except an adjective³) used as a noun must be masculine: as il viaggiáre, traveling.

21. Masculine names of trees in -o or -e have a feminine form in -a or -e respectively, denoting their fruit; but il dát-

² Mostly scientific terms.

³ Adjectives of course have the gender of the nouns they represent. An adjective used as an abstract noun is masculine: il bello, the beautiful = beauty.

tero, date, il fico, fig, il limóne, lemon, il pómo, apple, are always the same, whether denoting the tree or the fruit.

22. Feminines in unaccented a form their plural by changing a into e.

le bugie, lies.

(a) Feminines in -ca and -ga form their plural in -che and -ghe respectively (the h being inserted merely to indicate that the c and g keep their hard sound).

(b) Nouns in unaccented -cia and -gia form their plural in -ce and -ge respectively.¹

la guáncia, the cheek.

tánte ciliége, so many cherries.

23. Masculines in unaccented -a and all nouns in unaccented -o and -e (not -ie) form their plural in -i.² un poêta, a poet.

(a) Masculines in -ca and -ga form their plural in -chi and -ghi respectively.

il monárca, the monarch.

i collégghi, the colleagues.

¹ Provincia has provincie. In general borrowed words and words whose plural is necessarily very rare keep the i: audácia, audácie.

² In old Italian and in poetry words in -ello and -ale often form their plural in -egli or -ei, -agli or -ai: capélllo, capéggli; animále, animái.

(b) Nouns in unaccented -io form their plural by changing -io to -i (often written i, j, or ii).

lo spêcchio, the mirror.
il ciliêgio, the cherry tree.

gli spêcchi, the mirrors.
i ciliêgi, the cherry trees.

(c) Nouns in -go form their plural in -ghi. Nouns in -co form their plural in -chi if the penult is accented, otherwise in -ci.

il castîgo, the punishment.
un catâlogo, a catalogue.
il fico, the fig.
antico, ancient.
un mêtico, a doctor.

i castîghi, the punishments.
due catâloghi, two catalogues.
cînque fichi, five figs.
gli antîchi, the ancients.
sêi mêtici, six doctors.

This rule has a number of exceptions. In the following lists, words whose irregular plural is rare are omitted.

1. Compound nouns in -logo denoting persons engaged in the sciences, and all compound nouns in -fago form their plural in -gi.¹ il fisiôlogo, the physiologist.

antropôfago, cannibal.

antropôfagi, cannibals.

2. The following words form their plural in -ci, although the penult is accented:

amîco

grêco

inimîco nemîco

pôrco²

Grêco has a regular plural in the expression vîni grêchi.

3. The following words form their plural in -chi, although the penult is unaccented:

âbbaco fârmaco lâstrico rammârico strâscico acrôstico indaco

mânico rîsico tôssico cârico³

intônaco

pârroco sciâtico trâffico dimêntico³

intrînseco

pîzzico stômaco

vâlico⁴

• Acrôstico and fârmaco have also regular plurals.

² Likewise the rare words: aprîco, lombrîco (also reg.), uvamîco, vîco.

³ Likewise its compounds.

⁴ Likewise the rare or obsolete words: filâccico, mântaco (also reg.), ostâtico, sfilâccico, stâtico (noun), ûncico.

(d) The following masculines in -o have an irregular plural in -a which is feminine:

centináio, hundred.

míglío, mile.

uôvo, egg.

Many masculines in -o have this irregular feminine plural in -a besides the regular masculine plural in -i. The most common are:

bráccio, arm.

díto, finger.

légno, wood.

ginôcchio, knee.

un páio, a pair.

sêtte páia, seven pairs.

il míó bráccio, my arm.

le túe bráccia, thy arms.

il lábbro, the lip.

le lábbra or i lábbri, the lips.

un ôssó, a bone.

le ôssa or gli ôssi, the bones.

Bráccio, ginôcchio, lábbro, and orécchio nearly always have the irregular plural when denoting the two arms, knees, lips, or ears belonging to the same body.

24. All monosyllables, and all nouns ending in -i, -ie, -u, an accented vowel, or a consonant, are invariable.

il re, the king.

i re, the kings.

il bríndisi, the toast.

i bríndisi, the toasts.

úna spêcie, a kind.

ôtto spêcie, eight kinds.

úna città, a city.

diêci città, ten cities.

l' ômnibus, the omnibus.

gli ômnibus, the omnibusses.

25. The following nouns have irregular plurals:

búe, ox, pl. buôi.

díó, god, pl. dêi.¹

uômo, man, pl. uômini.

ADJECTIVES

26. Adjectives agree with their nouns in gender and number. An adjective modifying two nouns of different genders is generally put in the masculine plural.

Il gatto è pulito.	The cat is neat.
Stanze pulite.	Neat rooms.
Una casa e un giardino bellini.	A pretty house and garden.
La ragazza è bellina.	The girl is pretty.

27. Numeral and pronominal adjectives, bello, bravo, buono, and the commonest adjectives of size and quantity, precede their nouns. Adjectives of nationality, shape, and material follow.

Adjectives whose use is prompted by emotion, and adjectives used in a figurative sense, generally precede.

Otherwise, of the noun and adjective, the one that contains the chief idea comes last.

Due cani.	Two dogs.
Troppo pane.	Too much bread.
La buona madre.	The good mother.
Le grandi città.	Great cities.
Un libro francese.	A French book.
Quella palla rotonda.	This round ball.
Pover' uomo!	Poor man!
Una nera menzogna.	A black falsehood.
La vostra gentilissima lettera.	Your kind letter.
È un uomo gentilissimo.	He is a kind man.

GENDER AND NUMBER

28. Adjectives ending in -o are masculine, and form their feminine in -a. Adjectives in -e are invariable in the singular.

buono stivalotto, good boot.	buona scarpa, good shoe.
ragazzo felice, happy boy.	ragazza felice, happy girl.

29. Adjectives form their plural in the same way as nouns (see 22, 23): -o, pl. -i; -a, pl. -e; -e, pl. always -i.

sêi buôni cassettóni, six good bureaux. ôtto buône sêggiole, eight good chairs.

dúe uòmini felici, two happy men. tre dónne felici, three happy women.

(a) Parécchi, several, has for its feminine parécchie.

(b) Quálche, some, is used only in the singular, even when the meaning is plural: as quálche vòlta, sometimes.

(c) When preceding a noun, bêllo, beautiful, has forms similar to those of the definite article; and Sánto, Saint, and gránde, great, have corresponding forms in the singular.¹ Buôno, good, when preceding its noun, has a singular similar to the indefinite article. The masculine of these words (which is the only irregular part) is, therefore, as follows:

Before any consonant except s impure or z: bel, San, gran, buon; pl. bêi, Sánti, grándi, buòni.

Before s impure or z: bêllo, Sánto, gránde, buôno; pl. bêgli, Sánti, grándi, buòni.

Before a vowel: bell', Sant', grand', buon; pl. bêgli, Sánti, grándi, buòni.

When used after a noun or in the predicate these adjectives have their full forms (bêllo, bêlli, Sánto, Sánti, gránde, grándi, buôno, buòni).

Un bêl quádro.

Dúe bêi lètti.

Two fine beds.

Un bêllo scaffále.

A fine bookcase.

Quáttro bêgli stiváli.

Four fine boots.

Un bêll' ándito.

A fine hall.

Mólti bêgli orològi.

Many fine clocks.

Una bêlla stúfa.

A fine stove.

Parécchie bêlle tênde.

Several fine curtains.

Il palázzo è bêllo.

The palace is fine.

¹ Gran is, moreover, often used in the fem. sing. (for gránde), and sometimes in the plur. (for grándi); it is regularly used before fem. sing. nouns in -e, and in the expression úna gran bêlla (or brútta) côsa. Gránde, on the other hand, is occasionally used for gran.

30. Any adjective of either gender or either number may be used as a noun.

I bu  ni, the good.

la b  lla, the beautiful woman.

COMPARISON

31. All Italian adjectives form their comparative by prefixing pi  , more, and their superlative by prefixing the definite article to the comparative.

b  llo, beautiful; pi   b  llo, more beautiful; il pi   b  llo, the most beautiful.

l  ngo, long; pi   l  ngo, longer; il pi   l  ngo, the longest.

When the superlative immediately follows the noun, this article is omitted.

La v  a pi   c  rta.

The shortest way.

(a) The following adjectives have an irregular comparison in addition to the regular one:

álto, high; più álto or superióre; il più álto or il superióre.
 báссо, low; più báссо or inferióre; il più báссо or l' inferióre.
 buòno, good; più buòno or miglióre¹; il più buòno or il miglióre.
 cattívo, bad; più cattívo or peggióre¹; il più cattívo or il peggióre.
 gránde, big; più gránde or maggióre; il più gránde or il maggióre.
 píccolo, small; più píccolo or minóre; il più píccolo or il minóre.

Higher and lower are commonly rendered by più álto and più báссо; superióre and inferióre generally mean superior and inferior. Miglióre and peggióre are more used than più buòno and più cattívo, which have the same sense. Larger and smaller are generally più gránde and più píccolo; maggióre and minóre usually signify older and younger.

Noi siámo miglióri di lóro.	We are better than they.
Quésta sála da pránzo è la più gránde .	This dining room is the biggest.
Piétro è il fratéllo minóre .	Peter is the youngest brother.

32. The adverb less is expressed by méno, least by il méno. As . . . as, so . . . as are tánto . . . quánto, tánto . . . cóme, così . . . cóme, or simply quánto.

Quélla stánza è la méno bellína.	That room is the least pretty.
Páolo non è tánto buòno cóme Robérto.	Paul isn't so good as Robert.
Giovánni è álto quánto Filípโป.	John is as tall as Philip.

33. Than is che.

L' albêrgo è più gránde che béllo.	The hotel is bigger than it is beautiful.
--	--

But before a noun, a pronoun, or a numeral than is rendered by the preposition di (see 12).

Riccárdo è peggióre di me.	Richard is worse than I.
Vói siéte più ríchi del re.	You are richer than the king.
Méno di cínque.	Less than five.

¹ The adverbs better and worse are méglio and pèggio.

If, however, this than is preceded by a word meaning rather, it is translated che.

Piuttôsto la môrte che il disonóre. Rather death than dishonor.

Before an inflected verb than is che non or di quel che.
If the verb has a negative subject, than is che.

Abbáia più che non môrde. He barks more than he bites.

Prométto méno di quel che do. I promise less than I give.

Più liêto che nessun figlio lo éra státo. Happier than any son had been.

34. The more . . . the more, the less . . . the less, are più . . . più, méno . . . méno. More and less after a number are di più, di méno. In speaking of time, longer after a negative is più.

Più stúdio, più impáro.

The more I study, the more I learn.

Trénta giòrni di méno.

Thirty days less.

Non lo vediámo più.

We see him no longer.

AUGMENTATIVES AND DIMINUTIVES; NUMERALS

AUGMENTATIVE AND DIMINUTIVE ENDINGS

35. Instead of a word expressing size or quality, the Italians often use a suffix. This suffix may be added to a noun, an adjective, or an adverb. When added to an adjective, and generally when added to a noun, it takes the gender of the word to which it is affixed: occasionally, however, a suffix with masculine termination is added to a feminine noun, which thereby becomes masculine. A word loses its final vowel before a suffix; but the preceding consonant, if it be c or g, must keep its former quality: as Cárlo+íno=Carlíno, vóce+óne=vocióne, pôco+íno=pochíno, adágio+íno=adagíno.

(a) The commonest ending is -íssimo (fem. -íssima), very, which in general is added only to adjectives and adverbs. Adverbs in -mente add the -íssima before the -mente (see 85). Any adjective may take it, and it is very often used in cases where it would be entirely superfluous in English.

fa un têmpo bellissimo, it's beautiful weather.

larghíssimo, very wide.

beníssimo, very well.

grandíssimo, very big.

bellissimamente, very beautifully.

(b) The principal suffix denoting bigness is -ône; it is always masculine, but has a rare feminine form, -ôna.

libro, book.

un librône, a big book.

úna bocciôna, a big decanter.

(c) The most important suffixes denoting smallness are -íno, -cino, -icino, -iccino, -étto, -êllo, -cêllo, -icêllo, -arêllo, -erêllo, -ôtto, -úccio, -úzzo, -uôlo, with their fem. -ína, etc. These endings, especially -úccio, are often used to express affection; some of them may be used to express pity or contempt. Ôtto sometimes means somewhat large instead of small.

Giôrgio, George.

campána, bell.

câsa, house.

Giovánni, John.

pázzo, mad.

piazzétta, little square.

Giorgétto, Georgie.

campanêllo, little bell.

casôtta, rather large house.

Giovannúccio, dear little Johnny.

pazzarêlla, poor mad woman.

(d) The ending -áccio denotes worthlessness.

têmpo, weather.

Alfrêdo, Alfred.

robáccia, trash.

Alfredáccio, naughty Alfred.

36. Of the endings added to nouns -íno is by far the most common; the only ones that are freely used to form new compounds are -íno, little, -óne, great, -úccio, dear, and -áccio, bad. In very many cases, endings lose their character of independent suffixes, and become inseparable parts of certain words, whose meanings they often change: as scála, stairway; scalíno, stair; scalétto, ladder. So brother, sister are always fratèllo, sorèlla. Some suffixes (as -uòlo) are rarely used except in this way. Others (as -cino, -icino, -èllo, -cèllo, -icèllo, -arèllo, -erèllo) cannot be attached to any word at pleasure, their use being determined by precedent or euphony.

37. Sometimes several suffixes are added at once to the same word: as ládno, thief; ladróne, terrible thief; ladroncèllo, terrible little thief.

NUMERALS

38. The cardinal numerals are:

1, úno.	15, quíndici.	28, ventòtto or	101, centúno or
2, dúe.	16, sédici.	vent' otto.	cent' úno.
3, tre.	17, diciassète.	29, ventinòve.	105, centocínque.
4, quáttro.	18, diciòtto.	30, trénta.	115, centoquíndici.
5, cínque.	19, diciannòve.	31, trentúno or	125, cento venti-
6, sei.	20, vénti.	trent' úno.	cínque.
7, sètte.	21, ventúno or	32, trentadúe.	200, dugénto or
8, otto.	vent' úno.	40, quaránta.	duécènto.
9, nôve.	22, ventidúe.	50, cinquánta.	250, dugénto cin-
10, dièci.	23, ventitrè.	60, sessánta.	quánta.
11, úndici.	24, ventiquáttro.	70, settánta.	300, trecènto.
12, dôdici.	25, venticínque.	80, ottánta.	400, quattrocènto.
13, trédici.	26, ventisèi.	90, novánta.	1000, mílle.
14, quattórdici.	27, ventisètte.	100, cènto.	2000, dúe míla.

Úno has a feminine úna; when used adjectively it has the same forms as the indefinite article; so also ventúno, etc.

The plural of mílle is míla. A million is un milióne or milióne, of which the plural is milióni or milliúni.

1. No conjunction is used between the different parts of a number: as dugêto quaránta, two hundred and forty. No indefinite article is used before cêto and mílle: as cêto líbri, a hundred books.

2. Cêto, dugêto, etc., when followed by another numeral of more than two syllables may lose the final syllable -to: as seicêto cinquánta or seicencinquánta, six hundred and fifty.

3. Eleven hundred, twelve hundred, etc., must be rendered mille-cêto, mílle dugêto, etc.: as mílle ottocêto ottantasêtte, 1887.

4. Both, all three, etc., are tútti (fem. tútte) e dúe, tútti (fem. tútte) e tre, etc.

(a) If the noun modified by ventúno, trentúno, etc., follows this numeral, it is regularly in the singular; as trentún giòrno, thirty-one days. Sometimes, however, the noun precedes the numeral, and then it is in the plural.

Sessantúna líra, or líre sessantúna. Sixty-one francs.

(b) In dates the definite article is prefixed to the number representing the year, if that number does not follow the name of a month. For instance, 1915 is il 1915.

Nel mílle ottocêto ottantasêtte. In 1887.

(c) What time is it? is che óra è? or che óre sóno? It is six, etc., is sóno le sêi, etc., óre being understood. One o'clock is il tócco.

Sóno le dúe e mêzzo. It's half past two.

Sóno le tre e diêci. It's ten minutes past three.

Ci máncano vénti minúti álle quáttro. It's twenty minutes to four.

Sóno le cinque méno un quártro. It's a quarter to five.

39. The ordinal numerals are:

1st, primo.	12th, duodécimo or	20th, ventésimo.
2d, secóndo.	décimo secóndo.	21st, ventésimo primo or
3d, têrzo.	13th, tredicésimo or	ventunésimo.
4th, quárto.	décimo têrzo.	22d, ventésimo secóndo
5th, quinto.	14th, quattordicésimo or	or ventiduésimo.
6th, sêsto.	décimo quárto.	30th, trentésimo.
7th, sêttimo.	15th, quindicésimo or	100th, centésimo.
8th, ottávo.	décimo quinto.	101st, centésimo primo.
9th, nôno.	16th, décimo sêsto.	115th, centoquindicésimo.
10th, décimo.	17th, décimo sêttimo.	200th, dugentésimo.
11th, undécimo or	18th, décimo ottávo.	1000th, millésimo.
décimo primo.	19th, décimo nôno.	2000th, duemilésimo.

All of them form their feminines and plurals like other adjectives in -o.

Le settantésime quinte cose. The 75th things.

(a) Ordinal numerals are used after the words book, chapter, and the names of rulers; but no article intervenes.

Cárlo secóndo.	Charles the Second.
Pío nôno.	Pius IX.
Líbro têrzo.	Book the Third.
Capítulo quárto.	Chapter four.

(b) For the day of the month, except the first, a cardinal number is used.

Il dì cínque d' apríle or il	The fifth of April. cínque apríle.
Il primo di mággio.	The first of May.

(c) The fourteenth century is il sêcolo décimo quárto or il Tre-cênto (i. e. mille trecênto). Il Dugênto, il Quattrocênto, il Cin-quecênto are often used for the 13th, 15th, and 16th centuries, and the later century names may be similarly abbreviated.

(d) A third, a fourth, a fifth, etc., are un têrzo, un quárto, un quinto, etc. Half is la metâ; the adjective half is mêzzo.

40. A couple or a pair is un páio. A dozen is úna dozína. The expressions úna decína, úna ventína, úna trentína, etc., un centináio, un migliáio, mean about ten, about twenty, etc. (see 23, d). Once, twice, etc., are úna vólta, dúe vólte, etc.

Ún páio di scárpe.

A pair of shoes.

Úna cinquantína di persóne.

Some fifty persons.

L' ho vísto parécchie vólte.

I've seen it several times.

DEMONSTRATIVE, INTERROGATIVE, RELATIVE, AND POSSESSIVE PRONOUNS

41. For the indefinite pronouns, see 86-91.

42. 1. The demonstratives used adjectively are quésto,¹ this, and quéllo or cotéstó, that. Cotéstó (also codéstó) is used of objects associated with the person addressed. Quésto and cotéstó are inflected like other adjectives; but they generally drop o before a vowel. Quéllo is inflected like béllo (see 29, c).

quéste ragázze, these girls.

quél bambíno, that infant.

quéi fanciúlli, those children.

quéll' amíco, that friend.

quégli spôsi, that couple.

quéllo zío, that uncle.

quélle signóre, those ladies.

Quésto and quéllo are also used substantively for this, that, this one, that one: as fáte quésto, non fáte quéllo, do this, don't do that.

2. This man is translated by quésti; that man by quégli, quéi, or cotésti (rare); these words are invariable, refer only to persons, and are used only in the nominative singular. Costúi and colúi mean respectively the same as quésti and quégli, but are not defective, having a feminine singular costêi, colêi, and a plural (both genders alike) costóro, colóro. Costúì is often used in a depreciative sense.

Quésti è francése e quegli è tedesco.	This man is French and that one is German.
Chi è costúì?	Who is this fellow?
Parlo di colúì.	I speak of that man.

3. Ciò, this, that, is invariable, and represents a whole idea, not a single word:

Ciò è véro.	That's so.
--------------------	-------------------

(a) Quéllo and quésto, quégli and quésti mean also the former, the latter.

(b) He who is colúì che, or simply chi. The one who, whom, which, that which, what, is quéllo che or quéì che.

Chi lavóra or colúì che lavóra.	He who works.
Quéì che díco fo.	The one I mean.
A quéì che sênto.	From what I hear.

43. The interrogative who, whom, is chi. What? used substantively is che, che còsa, or còsa.¹ What? used adjectively is che or quále. Which? is quále.

Quále has a plural quáli; chi and che are invariable.

How much? is quánto (-a); how many? is quánti (-e).

Chi védo?	Whom do I see?
Di chi parláte?	Of whom do you speak?
Dítemi chi viêne.	Tell me who is coming.
Che vògliono?	What do they want?
Che còsa díce?	What does he say?
Che or quáli líbri avéte com- práto?	What books did you buy?
Quále di quésti volúmi è il prímo?	Which of these volumes is the first?
Quánte vólte te l'ho détto!	How many times I have told you!

¹ Còsa (as còsa díce?) is generally avoided in written Italian. Note that chi is used in indirect as well as in direct questions.

(a) The interrogative whose is di chi.

Di chi è quésto bigliétto?

Whose card is this?

(b) In exclamations what a, what are rendered by che or quále without any article.

Che bël paései

What a beautiful country!

44. The principal relative pronouns are che, cúi, il quále: they are all applied to both persons and things, and mean who, whom, which, or that. Il quále is inflected (la quále, i quáli, le quáli). Che and cúi are invariable: in general che is used only as subject and direct object, cúi only after prepositions or as indirect object. In poetry ónde is often used to signify of which or from which.

La língua che si párla.

The language which we speak.

L' uómo del quále si tráttá.

The man of whom we are speaking.

Le persóne a cúi or álle quáli párla.

The persons to whom I speak.

Lo scrítto di cúi párla.

The work I am speaking of.

1. As subject or direct object che is preferred to il quále, unless clearness requires the latter.

Le figlie che stúdíano.

The daughters who are studying.

Le figlie dégli Americáni, le quáli stúdíano.

The Americans' daughters, who are studying.

2. The relative whose is il cúi or del quále.

Úna signóra, il cúi nóme è Lucía.

A lady whose name is Lucy.

Un uómo, le cúi figlie conóscó.

A man whose daughters I know.

L' autóre, del cúi líbro si párla.

The author whose book we are speaking of.

Le chiése délle quáli si védono le cúpole.

The churches whose domes we see.

3. The relative cannot be omitted in Italian.

Le case che ho compráte.

The houses I have bought.

(a) Such . . . as is tále . . . quále; in poetry tále, quále have a plural tái, quái instead of táli, quáli. As much as is tánto quánto; as many as is tánti quánti.

Quále è il pádre tále è il figlio. As is the father, so is the son.

(b) He who, him who is chi or colúi che (see 42, b).

Chi ha la sanità è ricco. He who has health is rich.

Colúi che lavóra è contênto. He who works is satisfied.

Amiámo chi ci áma. We love him who loves us.

(c) Whoever is chiúnque; whatever as a pronoun is tútto quél che or checchè, as an adjective quále che, qualúnque che, qualúnque, per quánto. These words, excepting tútto quél che, all take the subjunctive. Checchè is now but little used.

Chiúnque siáte. Whoever you may be.

Checchè faciáte, fátele bène. Whatever you do, do it well.

Tútto quél che voléte. Whatever you wish.

Quáli che siano i vòstri móti. Whatever your motives may be.

Qualúnque siano i suòi talènti. Whatever his talents may be.

In qualúnque státo che ío mi trôvi. In whatever condition I may find myself.

Per quánte ricchêzze égli ábbia. Whatever riches he may have.

45. The possessive pronouns and adjectives are:

	SINGULAR		PLURAL
	MASC.	FEM.	MASC.	FEM.
my, mine:	il mío	la mía	i mièi	le mie
thy, thine:	il túo	la túa	i tuói	le tue
his, her, hers, its:	il súo	la súa	i suói	le sue
our, ours:	il nòstro	la nòstra	i nòstri	le nòstre
your, yours:	il vòstro	la vòstra	i vòstri	le vòstre
their, theirs:	il lóro	la lóro	i lóro	le lóro

Lóro is invariable; the others agree with the object possessed:

il mío náso, my nose.

le lóro lábbra, their lips.

When the possessive stands alone in the predicate, the article is omitted if the possessive is used adjectively. To determine whether the possessive is used adjectively, consider the sentence as the answer to a question. If the sentence answers a question beginning with whose, there is no article; if it answers a question beginning with which, the article is used.

Quésto cappêllo è mío.

*This hat is mine. Whose hat?
Mine.*

Quésto cappêllo è il mío.

*This hat is mine. Which hat?
This one.*

(a) The article (unless it might be used in English) is omitted before the possessive:

1. When a numeral, an adjective of quantity, or a demonstrative or interrogative adjective precedes it:

Dúe cáni suôi.

Two dogs of his.

BUT I dúe cáni suôi.

The two dogs of his or his two dogs.

Mólti miêi amíci.

Many friends of mine.

BUT I mólti miêi amíci.

The many friends of mine or my many friends.

Quésto túo difêtto.

This fault of thine.

2. When the possessive forms part of a title:

Vôstra Maestà.

Your Majesty.

Súa Altézza.

His Highness.

3. When the possessive modifies a noun used in the vocative (in this case the possessive generally follows its noun): as amíco mío, my friend!

4. The article is generally omitted also when the possessive precedes a noun in the singular expressing relationship: as nôstra mádre, our mother; compare le mîe figlie, my daughters. But if the noun has a diminutive ending, or another adjective accompanies the noun, the article is not omitted:

Il túo fratellíno.

Thy little brother.

La vôstra gentilíssima sorélla.

Your kind sister.

Sometimes it is omitted before a predicate noun that does not express relationship:

Quêsto signóre è súo maêstro. This gentleman is his teacher.
 Io lo credéva mío amíco. I thought him my friend.

5. The article is omitted also in certain standing phrases, such as:

da páрте mía, for me. a môdo súo, in his own way.
 per amór mío, for my sake. è cólpa vôstra, it's your fault.
 in cása nôstra, in our house. a cása súa, to his house.

(b) The possessive, when not necessary for clearness, is usually replaced by a definite article.

Cóme sta la mámma? How is your mother?
 Ha perdúto il giudízio. He has lost his senses.
 Báttono i piêdi. They stamp their feet.

(c) When the name of the thing possessed is direct object of a verb, the Italians often use instead of the possessive a conjunctive personal pronoun (see 47) and a definite article.

Si stráppa i capélli. He tears his hair (lit., he tears to himself the hairs).
 Mi táglío il díto. I cut my finger (I cut to myself the finger).
 Il cáne gli agguantò la gámbe. The dog seized his leg (seized to him the leg).

If the thing possessed be a part of the body or clothing, this construction is frequent, even when the name of the thing is not object of a verb.

Mi duôle il cápo. My head aches (to me aches the head).

(d) When the possessor is not the subject of the sentence, his, her are, for the sake of clearness, often rendered di lui, di lei:

Égli non conósce il di lêi cuôre. He does not know her heart.

(e) A . . . of mine, of thine, etc., is un mío, un túo, etc.:

Úna nôstra cugína. A cousin of ours.

PERSONAL PRONOUNS

46. Personal pronouns are divided into two classes, conjunctive and disjunctive: the conjunctive forms are those used as direct object of a verb, and as indirect object without a preposition; the disjunctive forms are those used as subject of a verb, and as object of a preposition.

ÈGLI ve lo dà per ME.
He to you it gives for me.

CONJUNCTIVE FORMS

47. Conjunctive pronouns are always unaccented, and cannot be separated from the verb, which they sometimes follow but oftener precede, as will be explained in 48.

They are used only as direct object of a verb or as indirect object without a preposition. The forms are:

mi, me, to me.	ti, thee, to thee. ci, us, to us. ¹	vi, you, to you. si (reflexive), himself, to himself; herself, to herself; itself, to itself. si (reflexive), themselves, to themselves. lo, him ¹ ; gli, to him . ²	la, her; le, to her.
li, them (masc.); lóro, to them . ²	le, them (fem.); lóro, to them.

It must be rendered by a masculine or feminine form, according to the gender of the noun it represents. It representing not a word, but a whole clause, is lo.³

Mi conósce.	He knows me.
Ti do i libri.	I give thee the books.
Ci vedéte.	You see us.
Vi díco tútto.	I tell you everything.

¹ In old Italian and in poetry ne is often used for ci, and il for lo.

² In conversation li is often used for gli, and gli or li for lóro.

³ In certain idiomatic phrases la represents an indefinite object: as pagárla cára, to pay dearly for it.

Si veste.	He dresses himself.
Si divertono.	They amuse themselves.
Ècco l' òro: ve lo do.	Here's the gold: I give it to you.
Ècco la pálla: la védo.	Here's the ball: I see it.
Cóme potéva sapére se ío veníva o no? — Lo ha indo- vináto.	How could he tell whether I was coming or not? He guessed it.

1. It will be seen that the third person (not reflexive) has different forms for the direct and the indirect object.

Lo trovái.	I found him.
Gli féci un regalo.	I made him a present.
La láscia.	He leaves her.
Le scríve.	He writes to her.
Li cercáte.	You seek them (masc.).
Le salutáte.	You greet them (fem.).
Mandiámo lóro mílle salúti.	We send them (masc. or fem.) a thousand greetings.

2. The reflexive pronouns of the first and second persons are mi, ci; ti, vi. All plural reflexive pronouns are used also as reciprocal pronouns. A verb is called reflexive when it has as direct or indirect object a conjunctive pronoun representing the same person as its subject.

Mi deféndo.	I defend myself.
Vi laváte.	You wash yourselves.
Si fa onóre.	She does herself credit.
Si ódiano.	They hate each other.
Ci amiámo.	We love one another.

3. Another conjunctive pronoun is ne,¹ of it, of them; it corresponds also to any, some when these words mean any, some of it, any, some of them. It is often used pleonastically in Italian.

Ne párla.	He speaks of it.
Ne ho.	I have some.
Non ne abbíamo.	We haven't any.
Ne voléte?	Do you want any?
Tu ne approfítti di quésta libertà.	You make good use of this liberty.

(a) Vi, you, and ci and ne, us, are not distinguished by form nor position from the adverbs vi, ci, meaning there, here, to it, to them,¹ and the adverb ne, thence (see 84):²

Ci vádo.

I go there.

Vi è státo.

He has been there.

Ne vêngono.

They come from there.

The adverb ci or vi is used to express to it, to them, in speaking of things.

Ci pênserò.

I shall attend to it.

Mi fa déi gêsti, ma non

He makes signs to me, but I do not vi rispóndo.

48. The conjunctive pronouns, except lóro, immediately precede the verb:

Mi vedéte.

You see me.

Non lo capísco.

I don't understand him.

But when the verb is an infinitive,³ a positive imperative,⁴ a present participle, or a past participle used without an auxiliary, the pronoun follows the verb, and is written as one word with it:⁵ per vedérlo, to see him.

avéndoci vedúto, having seen us. vedútoti, having seen thee.

The addition of the pronoun does not change the place of the accent.

Lóro always follows the verb, but is never united to it.

Égli dà lóro del víno.

He gives them some wine.

Parláte lóro.

Speak to them.

² Cf. French en.

³ Not the infinitive used — with a negative — as imperative (see 72): as non lo fáre, do not do it (second pers. sing.).

⁴ Not the negative imperative, nor the subjunctive used imperatively (see 77, a): as non li guardáte, do not look at them; si rêgoli, let him moderate himself (third pers. sing. pres. subj.).

⁵ Students should follow strictly all of these rules; but they will find that the first is, in certain cases, not always observed by good Italian writers. In literary style a pronoun often follows a verb that begins a sentence: as védolo veníre, I see him coming.

(a) When an infinitive depends immediately (without an intervening preposition) on another verb, a conjunctive pronoun belonging to the infinitive may go with either verb:

Pôssô vedér*ti* or ti pôssô I can see thee.
vedére.

(NEVER: pôssô ti vedére)

A reflexive pronoun oftenest goes with the main verb.

Si dêve corrêggere. He must correct himself.

If both verbs have objects, the main verb regularly takes all conjunctive pronouns:

Ve lo sênto dîre. I hear you say it.
Me lo fa capîre. He makes me understand it.

If, however, the main verb is impersonal, it cannot take the object of the infinitive:

Bisôgna fârlô. It is necessary to do it.

If the main verb is fâre, lasciâre, sentîre, udîre, or vedére, it must take the pronoun:

Lo fa chiamâre. He has him called.

(b) If the main verb is fâre, and the dependent infinitive has a direct object, the object of fâre, if it has one, must be indirect:

Le fa avére la lêttera. He lets her have the letter.
Fâteli vedére a quel signóre. Let that gentleman see them.
Dovrêi fârglielo accettâre. I ought to make him accept it.

This construction is generally used also with lasciâre, to let, and often with sentîre and udîre, to hear, and vedére, to see. Note that the main verb takes all conjunctive pronouns.

Gliélo védo dâre. I see it given him.

(c) When a conjunctive pronoun is joined to an infinitive, that infinitive drops its final e; if it ends in -rre, it drops -re:

fârlô (fâre), to do it. condúrvi (condúrre), to conduct you.

(d) The final vowel of mi, ti, si is often, and that of lo, la is nearly always elided before a verb beginning with a vowel:

T' ámo.	I love thee.
L' ho vísto.	I've seen him.

(e) All conjunctive pronouns except gli and glie (see 50) double their initial consonant when added to any form of a verb that ends in an accented vowel:

Dám mi (imper. da' from dáre).	Give me.
Parlerô lle (antique, for le parlerò).	I shall speak to her.
Dí llo (imper. di' from díre).	Say it.

(f) Pronouns are joined to the interjection êcco, see here, just as they are joined to the imperative of a verb:

Êccomi .	Here I am.
Êccotelo pronto.	Here it is ready for thee.

49. When two conjunctive pronouns come together, the indirect object precedes the direct:

Mi vi presêta.	He introduces you to me.
Non vuô l presentárvimi.	He will not introduce me to you.
Gli si presentò un uômo.	A man presented himself to him.

But see 55, end.

Lôro, however, always comes last:

Presentátela lôro .	Introduce her to them.
----------------------------	-------------------------------

Ne follows all forms except lôro:

Me ne dà.	He gives me some.
Dátene lôro .	Give them some.

50. Mi, ti, ci, vi, si change their i to e before lo, la, li, le, ne (pronoun or adverb); and if the two words follow the verb, they are joined together:¹

Me lo díce.	He tells me it.
Ve ne domándo.	I ask you for some.
Mandátce lo.	Send it to us.

¹ In poetry me lo, me ne, etc., often become mel, men, etc.: as tel díco, I tell thee so; sen tórna, he returns thence. Non lo often = nol.

Gli and le (to her) become glie before lo, la, li, le, ne, and unite with them:

Gliéli mándo.
Vôglio dârglielo.

I send them to him, to her.
I wish to give it to him, to her.

DISJUNCTIVE FORMS

51. These forms are so called because they do not necessarily stand next to the verb.

Disjunctive pronouns have two cases, nominative and objective (or accusative). The objective case is used only after prepositions (for exceptions, see 51, a, b).

The disjunctive forms are these:

ío, I; me, me.	tu, thou; te, thee.
nói, we; nôi, us.	vói, you; vói, you.
{ égli, lúi, éssó, he; lúi, éssó, him. { élla, lêi, éssa, she; lêi, éssa, her. { éssi, lóro, they (masc.); lóro, éssi, them (masc.).
{ ésse, lóro, they (fem.); lóro, ésse, them (fem.).

It must be rendered by a masculine or feminine form, according to the gender of the noun it represents. It as subject of an impersonal verb is regularly not expressed (see, however, 51, h).

La cása è grandíssima, e intorno ad éssa c' è un giardíno.	The house is very large, and around it there is a garden.
Non è véro.	It isn't true.
Piôve.	It rains.

1. The various pronouns of the third person are used as follows:

In speaking of things the different forms of éssó are generally employed.

In speaking of persons égli (or éssó), élla (or éssa), pl. éssi, éssé, are used for the nominative in written Italian,¹ but in the spoken language they are replaced by lúi, lêi, lóro. For the objective, lúi, lêi, lóro (sometimes éssó, éssa, éssi, ésse) are used both in conversation and in writing.

For he who, etc., see 42, b.

Quéste côse sónó vére anch' ésse.	These things are true, too.
Élla párla con lóro.	She speaks with them.
Lêi è giòvane ma lúi è vècchio.	She is young, but he is old.
Vénnero da nói anch' éssi.	They came to us, too.

2. As the Italian verb denotes by its endings the person and number of its subject, the personal pronouns of the nominative case are generally omitted. When expressed (for clearness, emphasis, or euphony), they may precede or follow the verb; in dependent clauses they nearly always follow. The subject of an interrogative verb usually comes after it, as in English.

Parliámo di lúi.	We speak of him.
Non vádo.	I don't go.
S' ío fóssi ricco cóme è égli.	If I were rich as he is.
Véngono éssi?	Are they coming?

3. The disjunctive reflexive pronoun of the third person is sè, which is masculine and feminine, singular and plural.

Lo févero da sè.	They did it by themselves.
------------------	-----------------------------------

In the other persons me, nói, te, vói are used.

(a) Use the objective case and not, as in English, the nominative:

(1) When a pronoun of the third person may be regarded as the subject of an unexpressed verb:

Beáto lúi!	Happy he!
Tánto i genitóri che lúi sónó ricchi.	His parents as well as he are rich.

(2) When the pronoun stands in the predicate after the verb éssere:

Credéndo ch' ío fóssi te.	Thinking I was you.
---------------------------	----------------------------

But note carefully that it is I, etc., are sónó ío, sêi tu, è lúi, è lêi, siámo nói, siête vói, sónó lóro.

(b) (1) When the pronoun is at all emphatic, the disjunctive form must be used. In this case the conjunctive form is often inserted also.

Párlo a vói signóre.

I speak to you, sir.

Mi piáce ánche a me.

It pleases me too.

BUT

Vi párló.

I speak to you.

Mi piáce.

It pleases me.

(2) The disjunctive form must therefore always be used when the verb has two direct or two indirect objects.

Védo lúi e lêi.

I see him and her.

Lo do a mío pádre e a te.

I give it to my father and to thee.

(c) In speaking of a company, a class, or a people nói áłtri, vói áłtri (which are also written as one word) are used for nói, vói.

Nói áłtri italiáni.

We Italians.

Vói áłtri pittóri.

You painters.

(d) With me, with thee, with himself, herself, themselves are either con me, etc., or méco, téco, séco.

(e) Myself, thyself, etc., used for emphasis with a pronoun or noun, are rendered by the adjective stéssó.

Nói stéssi la vedémmo.

We saw her ourselves.

(f) One another, each other is l' un l' áłtro.

Ci amiámo l' un l' áłtro.

We love one another.

(g) In Florence élla is often shortened into la (plural le), which is used of both persons and things. In poetry égli becomes éi.

La non viêne.

She doesn't come.

Páre che la si pòssa tenér in máno.

It looks as if it might be held in the hand.

Éi táce.

He is silent.

(h) In impersonal phrases like it is the subject, it, is occasionally expressed in Italian; it is then translated égli, which in the spoken language is shortened into gli.

Gli è che.

It is because.

52. 1. The usual form of address in Italy is Élla¹ (or élla), objective Lêi (or lêi); in conversation Élla is replaced by Lêi (or lêi). This word really means it, and takes the verb in the third person; but an adjective or past participle modifying it agrees in gender with the person it represents.

The plural of Élla is Lóro (or lóro), which takes the verb in the third person plural.

The use of the capital initial in all these words is optional. It marks respect, and is sometimes useful to distinguish you from she.

Lêi or Élla è tedéscó, signóre.	You are German, sir.
Signorína Néri, Lêi or Élla fu lasciáta sóla.	Miss Neri, you were left alone.
Sóno liêto che La stía bêne (see 51 , g).	I'm glad you are well.
E Lóro , dóve vánno?	And you, where are you going?
Lóro érano già partíti.	You were already gone.
Signoríne, lóro sóno móltó studióse.	Young ladies, you are very studious.

Like other personal pronouns, Élla and Lóro are very often omitted in the nominative.

Lêi è trôppo gentíle or è trôppo gentíle.	You are too kind.
Cóme stánno?	How do you (pl.) do?

The conjunctive forms of Élla are La, Le (or la, le), those of Lóro are Li, Le, Lóro (or li, le, lóro); they occupy the same positions and undergo the same modifications as the corresponding pronouns of the third person (see 48, 49, 50).

Note that regularly in the singular the same pronoun is used, whether one is addressing a man or a woman; although occasionally lo, gli are substituted for la, le in speaking to a male. In the plural, however, if the pronoun be a direct object, the sexes are regularly distinguished.

The reflexive pronoun of Élla and Lóro is si.

Le prométto di visitarla.	I promise (you) to visit you.
Gliélo do.	I give it to you.
La prêgo d' accomodársi.	I beg you to seat yourself.
Vídi Lêi e il bábbó.	I saw you and your father (see 51, b, 2).
Díco lóro.	I tell you (pl.).
Le cercáva.	I was looking for you (fem. pl.).
Non pôsso vedérli.	I can't see you (masc. pl.).
Si divêrtono, signoríni?	Are you enjoying yourselves, young gentlemen?

The possessive of Élla is Súo (or súo); that of Lóro is Lóro (or lóro). See 45.

La Súa gradíta lèttera.	Your welcome letter.
-------------------------	-----------------------------

2. Vói is the form of address oftenest found in books; it is used sometimes in conversation also, but only toward inferiors or toward equals with whom one is on familiar terms.¹ It is employed for both plural and singular (like English you), although its verb is always plural; an adjective or participle modifying it agrees in gender and number with the person or persons it represents.

Vói qui, Piétro?	You here, Peter?
Vói siéte álti tútti e dúe.	You are tall, both of you.

3. In speaking to an intimate friend, a near relative, a child, or an animal, the only form of address is tu. Tu is used also, like English thou, in poetry and poetic prose. The plural of tu is vói.

Ti chiámo Enríco.	I call you Henry.
Dóve sêi tu?	Where art thou?
Vôglio vedérvi, figliuôli miêi.	My children, I wish to see you.

AUXILIARY VERBS

53. The irregular verbs èssere, to be, and avére, to have, are the ones most used as auxiliaries in Italian. They are conjugated as follows:

(a) INFINITIVES: èssere, to be; èssere státo, to have been.

PARTICIPLES: essêndo, being; essêndo státo, having been; státo, been.

54. 1. The auxiliary of the passive is êssere, to be.

L' esêrcito fu sconfitto.

The army was defeated.

2. The future (shall, will) and the past future or conditional (should, would) are formed in Italian without any auxiliary.

Io andrò ed egli verrà.

I shall go, and he will come.

Vorrêi vederlo.

I should like to see him.

3. The auxiliary of the perfect, past perfect, second past perfect, and future perfect tenses is avére, to have, if the verb be active and transitive.

If the verb be passive, reflexive, or reciprocal, the auxiliary is always êssere. For the definition of a reflexive verb, see 47, 2, on p. 36.

If the verb be intransitive, the auxiliary is generally êssere, but sometimes avére.¹

Ho parlato.

I have spoken.

Avévano fátto quêste còse.

They had done these things.

Mi sòno fátto mále.

I have hurt myself.

Le dônne si êrano sbagliáte.

The women had made a mistake.

Sarò venúto.

I shall have come.

È nevicáto.

It has snowed.

Avéva viaggiáto.

He had traveled.

(a) A past participle used with the auxiliary êssere must agree with its subject in gender and number.

La ragázza è tornáta.

The girl has returned.

Le dônne si sòno disputáte.

The women have disputed.

But when the verb has a reflexive pronoun as indirect object, and some other word as direct object, the past participle may agree with the subject, or with the direct object, or remain invariable.

La sorèlla si è fátta mále.

Our sister has hurt herself.

Ci siámo fátti onóre.

We have done ourselves credit.

Ci siámo dáta (or dáto) parôla d' onóre.

We have pledged our word of honor.

¹ The use of avére with intransitive verbs must be learned by practice.

(b) A past participle used with avére may or may not agree with its direct object, according to the choice of the writer. It usually does not agree when the object follows; and it nearly always does agree when the object is a personal pronoun preceding the verb.

La birra che avéva bevúto (or bevúta).	The beer he had drunk.
Ho vedúto mólte còse.	I have seen many things.
Li ho trováti.	I have found them.

(c) To be, expressing a state or condition, is often rendered by stáre (92, 4), instead of èssere. Stáre per or èssere per (followed by the infinitive) means to be on the point of.

Sto bène.	I'm well.
Cóme sta?	How are you?
Stáva per uscíre.	I was just going out.

(d) English am (or was) + the present participle, when expressing duration, is rendered either by the simple present (or past descriptive) or by the same tense of stáre¹ + the present participle; when denoting futurity, it is translated by the future (or past future), sometimes by the present (or past descriptive).

Cammináva.	He was walking.
Státe lavorándo.	You are working.
Leggévano or stávano leggêndo.	They were reading.
Mêdito or sto meditándo.	I am meditating.
Díce che verrà (or viêne).	He says he is coming.
Dísse che verrêbbe.	He said he was coming.

(e) A verb with the auxiliary used to (or would=used to) is translated either by the simple past descriptive, or by the infinitive with solére, to be accustomed (92, 14).

Vi andáva (or soléva andáre) ogni séra.	He used to go (or would go) there every evening.
---	---

(f) Veníre, to come (92, 166), and rimanére, to remain (92, 16), are sometimes used as auxiliaries in the simple tenses of the passive, instead of èssere. Andàre, to go (92, 1), is similarly used, but always implying duty or obligation.

I ládri vénnero arrestáti.	The thieves were arrested.
Rimáse sorpréa.	She was surprised.
Il fucíle non va toccáto.	The gun mustn't be touched.

(g) The English auxiliary do is not expressed in Italian.

Non viéne.	He does not come.
------------	--------------------------

(h) To have a thing done is far fáre úna còsa (92, 2).

Il re lo féce ammazzáre.	The king had him killed.
--------------------------	---------------------------------

55. The third person of the passive is very often replaced by the reflexive construction with si:

Si raccónta.	It is related.
Quésto líbro si légge.	This book is read.
La spáda che mi si diéde.	The sword that was given me.
Quélle còse si facévano.	Those things were done.

Many writers always make the verb agree with its subject in number; but in popular speech the verb is nearly always in the singular when its subject follows (as if si were the subject of the verb, and the original subject were the object):

Si védono (or véde) moltísime còse.	Many things are seen.
Non si può (or pôssono) leggere quésti líbri.	These books can't be read.

Si belonging to a dependent infinitive regularly goes with the main verb (see 48, a).

The construction with si is generally used also to render the English indefinite they followed by a verb: as si díce, they say. In this sense it is employed with neuter as well as with transitive verbs: as si va spéssso, people often go. See also 63, a. In this construction an object pronoun may precede si: as lo si fa, it is done.

56. Following are synopses of the compound tenses of transitive, neuter, reflexive, and passive verbs. In the paradigms given henceforth these forms will be omitted.

(a) Following is a synopsis of the compound tenses of trovâre, to find, and venîre, to come:

avére trováto, to have found.	èssere venúto, to have come.
avêndo trováto, having found.	essêndo venúto, having come.
ho trováto, I have found.	sóno venúto, I have come.
avéva trováto, I had found.	êra venúto, I had come.
ébbi trováto, I had found.	fúi venúto, I had come.
avrò trováto, I shall have found.	sarò venúto, I shall have come. avrêi trováto, I should have found.	sarêi venúto, I should have come.
ábbia trováto, I have found.	sía venúto, I have come.
avéssi trováto, I had found.	fóssi venúto, I had come.

(b) Following is a synopsis of the compound tenses of alzârsi, (to raise one's self), to get up, and andârsene,¹ to go away.

INFINITIVE: PAST	èssersi alzáto	èssersene andáto

(c) Following is a synopsis of the entire passive of amâre, to love:

INFINITIVE: PRESENT	èssere amáto, to be loved.
PAST	èssere státo amáto, to have been loved.
PARTICIPLE: PRESENT	essêndo amáto, being loved.
PAST	essêndo státo amáto, having been loved.
INDICATIVE: PRESENT	sóno amáto, I am loved.
PRESENT PERFECT	sóno státo amáto, I have been loved.

SECOND PAST PERFECT	fúi státo amáto, I had been loved.

¹ Andârsene is composed of the verb andâre, to go, the reflexive si, and the adverb ne, thence (see 47, a).

FUTURE	sarò amáto, I shall be loved.
FUTURE PERFECT	sarò státo amáto, I shall have been loved.
PAST FUTURE	sarèi amáto, I should be loved.
PERFECT	sarèi státo amáto, I should have been loved.
IMPERATIVE	sii amáto, be loved.
SUBJUNCTIVE: PRESENT	sía amáto, I be loved.
PRESENT PERFECT	sía státo amáto, I have been loved.
PAST	fóssi amáto, I were loved.
PAST PERFECT	fóssi státo amáto, I had been loved.

57. May, might, can, could are generally rendered by the proper tense of *potére*¹; must, ought, shall=must, should=ought, by *dovére*¹; will and would expressing volition, by volére.¹

Può éssere véro.	It may be true.
Non potéva parláre.	He couldn't speak.
Dève pagárlo.	He must pay him, he shall pay him.
Dovrèbbe fárlo.	He ought to do it, he should do it.
Voglio sapére.	I will know.
Non vorrèi andáre.	I wouldn't go.

Note that ought must be expressed by the past future (or conditional) of dovére.

Dovrémmo parláre.	We ought to speak.
Avrèi dovúto fárlo.	I ought to have done it.

No preposition intervenes between these verbs and the dependent infinitive.

Hánno potúto dormíre.	They have been able to sleep.
Potrémó partíre.	We shall be able to start.
Dovémmo veníre.	We had to come.
Dovréte trovárla.	You will have to find her.
Vorrà tornáre.	He will want to return.
Vorrèi sapére.	I should like to know.

These verbs are not defective, like the English modal auxiliaries; hence in Italian the tense is expressed by the auxiliary itself, and not by the dependent infinitive. To find the proper form of potére, dovére, or volére, replace may, etc., by the correct tense of to be able; must, etc., by to be obliged; will, etc., by to want or to like: as I could have said it=I should have (avrêi) been able (potúto) to say it (díro)=avrêi potúto díro.

Avrêbbe dovúto tacére.

He ought to have kept still.

Avrémmo volúto restáre.

We would have stayed.

(a) Must is also expressed by the impersonal verb bisognáre, to be necessary, followed by the infinitive or by che, that, with the subjunctive. To have to is avére da.

Bisógna fáro.

It must be done.

Bisógna che andiámo.

We must go.

Ho da scrívere úna lèttara.

I have to write a letter.

(b) To be able meaning to know how is sapére (see 92, 6). Not to be able to help doing a thing is non potér a méno di non (with infinitive) or non potér fáre a méno di (with infinitive).

Non sêppe fáro.

He couldn't do it.

Sa lêggere e scrívere.

He can read and write.

Non potè a méno di non rídere.

He couldn't help laughing.

REGULAR AND IRREGULAR VERBS

58. Italian verbs are divided into four conjugations, according as the infinitive ending is -áre, accented -ére, unaccented -ere (or -rre), or -íre. Regular verbs of the second and third conjugations are, however, inflected just alike.

(a) The final e of the infinitive may be dropped before any word except one beginning with s impure.¹

¹ Cf. 10, b; 14, b. Italians find it hard to pronounce three consecutive consonants of which the middle one is s.

THE REGULAR VERB

59. Parlâre, to speak, will serve as a model for the first conjugation. All compound tenses are omitted (see 56):

(a) Verbs whose infinitives end in -care or -gare insert h after the c or g in all forms where those letters precede e or i:

Pâghi (pagâre).	Let him pay.
Cercherò (cercâre).	I shall search.

Verbs in -ciare and -giare drop the i before e or i:

Mangi (mangiâre).	Thou eatest.
Comincerà ¹ (cominciâre).	He will begin.

But all other verbs in -iare drop the i only before another i:

Picchi (picchiâre).	Let him strike.
Pigli (pigliâre).	Thou takest.

BUT

Picchierà, piglierêi.	He will strike, I should take.
-----------------------	---------------------------------------

(b) The verbs giocáre, rotáre, sonáre generally change o of the stem into uo in all forms where that vowel is accented:

Suôni.

Let him play.

Giuôcano.

They play.

Rinnováre and tonáre may make the same change. The u is sometimes used throughout.

60. Verbs of the second and third conjugations¹ are inflected like credére, to believe:

compêtere	miêtere	têssere
convêrgere	pâscere	tóndere
divêrgere	prúdere
lúcere	ripêtere

Verbs in -cere and -gere insert after the c or g an i before the u of the past participle, but not before the o or a of the singular or third person plural of the present indicative or subjunctive:

méscere; mésc*o*, mésc*i*, mésc*e*, mesciámo, mescéte, mésc*o*no;
mésca, etc., méscano; mesciúto,

62. The present participle of all verbs is invariable.

Stavâmo parlândo.

We were speaking.

63. In all conjugations a form of the first person singular of the past descriptive ending in -o instead of -a is nearly always used in conversation, and occurs often in the works of modern authors:

Leggêvo.

I was reading.

(a) In popular speech the first person plural of all tenses is generally replaced by the third person singular preceded by si:

Nói áltri si crede.

We believe.

Nói si êra venúti.

We had come.

Ci si decise.

We decided (ourselves).

(b) Final o of the third person plural is frequently omitted:

Párlan di lúi.

They speak of him.

Forms in -ânno sometimes drop -no:

Dirân tútto.

They will tell everything.

(c) The past descriptive endings -avâmo, -avâte, -evâmo, -evâte, -ivâmo, -ivâte are often pronounced -ávamo, -ávate, etc.

(d) Occasionally, especially in poetry, -at- is omitted from the ending of the past participle of the first conjugation: destáto = désto.

THE IRREGULAR VERB

64. Certain parts of Italian irregular verbs are always regular: the example given below will show which they are. Èssere (see 53, a) is an exception to all rules.

65. Many irregular verbs that belong or once belonged to the third conjugation have the infinitive contracted (fáre for fácere, díre for dícere, condúrre for condúcere): in this case the future and past future are formed from this contracted infinitive (farò, dirèi, condurrèbbe), while the present participle, the past descriptive and past subjunctive, and certain persons of the present and past absolute are formed from the uncontracted stem (facendo, dicéva, conduciámo).

66. Pórre (for pónere), to put, a verb of the third conjugation, will serve to show which are the regular and which the irregular parts of irregular verbs: the forms printed in boldface are regular in all verbs except dáre, díre, èssere, fáre, stáre; those in Roman type may be irregular.

ponéte	poniáte póngano	ponéste ponéssero	porréste porrèbbero

It will be seen that the present participle, the past descriptive and past subjunctive, and certain persons of the present and past absolute are always regular.

1. Dáre and stáre have in the future and past future darò, darèi; starò, starèi. Otherwise the only irregularity in the future and past future is that they are contracted in many verbs even when the infinitive is uncontracted: as vedére, to see, vedrò; veníre, to come, verrèi.

2. From the first person singular of the past absolute the other irregular persons can be constructed, the third person singular by changing the ending -i to -e, the third person plural by adding -ro to the third person singular.²

3. The regular persons of the past absolute and the whole past subjunctive are slightly irregular in dáre and stáre, which substitute e for a in those forms (désti, démmo, déste, déssi; stésti, stémmo, stéste, stéssi).

4. Díre (for dícere) and fáre (for fácere) have díte and fáte in the second person plural of the present indicative.

(a) Verbs whose stem ends in -l, -n, or -r often drop final e or i in the singular of the present indicative and imperative:

Non vuôl andáre.
Viên qui.

He will not go.
Come here.

See also 63, a, b, c.

² This rule applies only to an irregular past absolute.

(b) The three forms of the imperative are exactly like the corresponding persons of the present indicative, except in avére, sapére, and volére, where they follow the subjunctive:

ábbi	abbiámo	abbiáte
sáppi	sappiámo	sappiáte
vôgli	vogliámo	vogliáte and in andáre, dáre, díre, fáre, and stáre, which have in the singular va', da', di', fa', sta'.

(c) The third person plural of the present indicative can always be constructed from the first person singular, from which can be formed also the whole present subjunctive except the first and second persons plural: these can be made from the first person plural of the present indicative.

EXCEPTIONS to this rule are andáre, avére, dáre, fáre, sapére, and stáre, which have in the third person plural of the present indicative vánno, hánno, dánno, fánno, sánno, stánno; while avére, dáre, sapére, and stáre have in the present subjunctive ábbia, día, sáppia, stía.

67. With the aid of the above notes any verb except èssere can be constructed from the infinitive, the participles (the present participle often being necessary to show the uncontracted form of the infinitive), the present indicative, and the first person singular of the past absolute and future. A list of irregular verbs begins on page 80.

(a) In general, compound verbs not differing in conjugation from their simple verbs will be omitted from this list. All compounds of dáre and fáre are accented on the same syllable as the simple verbs:

Fa. He does.

Disfà. He undoes.

The compounds of stáre demand special mention: ristáre, soprastáre, sottostáre, sovrastáre are inflected like stáre (ristà, soprastètti, sottostíano); distáre has no present participle, is regular in the present of all moods (dísto, etc.), but otherwise is inflected like stâre (distêtti, etc.); constâre, contrastâre, instâre, ostâre, prestâre, restâre, sostâre are regular throughout (cônsta, contrâstano, instâi, ostârono, presterò, rêsti, sostâssi).

68. In old Italian and in poetry both regular and irregular verbs differ in many ways from the normal types: some of the commonest variations are given below.

(a) In the first and third persons singular and the third person plural of the past descriptive v is often dropped, but never in the first conjugation: voléva=voléa (also volía); finívano=finíano. Some of these forms are not uncommon in modern prose.

(b) The past future endings -êi, -êbbe, -êbbero are generally replaced in poetry by -ía, -íano: crederêi=credería.

(c) The future endings -ò, -ânno are sometimes replaced by -ággio or -ábbo, -ággiono or -ábbono: amerò=amerággio; amerânno=amerábbono.

(d) In the third person plural of the past absolute -no or -ono is often dropped: amárono=amâro or amâr (also amôrno, amônno). In the third person singular we find amáo, credéo, sentío.

(e) Final -ero is often replaced by -ono: avrêbbero=avrêbbono.

(f) In the first person plural final o is often dropped, and then the m sometimes becomes n: andíamo=andíam or andían.

(g) In the first person plural of the present indicative of the second and third conjugations -iámo may be replaced by -émo.

(h) Final -íano, wherever it occurs (also -éano in the imperfect), may be replaced by -íeno or -iêno: avévano=aviêno.

(i) At the end of a word we often find e for i, sometimes i for e: pênsi=pênsé; ascoltâte=ascoltáti.

(j) E is sometimes added to a word ending in an accented vowel: amò=amôe.

MOODS AND TENSES

69. The English gerund in -ing used as subject, predicate nominative, or direct object of a verb must be rendered in Italian by the infinitive, nearly always preceded by the definite article.

Mi piáce il viaggiáre.

I like traveling.

Rifársela cógli animáli è da sciòcchi.

Taking vengeance on animals is folly.

La nôstra prima cúra fu il cercáre úna pensióne.

Our first care was hunting up a boarding house.

Ôdio lo studiáre.

I hate studying.

70. The English gerund preceded by a preposition is translated as follows:

1. If the preposition is a necessary part of the thought, it is expressed in Italian, and the English gerund is rendered by the infinitive with the definite article. This article is, however, omitted (unless it would be used in English) after the following prepositions:

di, of.

invéce di, instead of.

sénza, without.

dópo di, after.

prima di, before.

Óltre il fáre scarabòcchi scríve mále.

Besides making blots he writes badly.

Parlái cóntro il trárre útile di quél-la disgrázia.

I spoke against utilizing that misfortune.

Il vízio di fumáre.

The habit of smoking.

Ho l' abitúdine di coricármí tárdi.

I am in the habit of going to bed late.

Invéce di dírmí tútto.

Instead of telling me everything.

Príma di moríre.

Before dying.

Parliámo sénza rifléttere.

We speak without thinking.

2. If in English the omission of the preposition, although it made the construction awkward, would not essentially change the meaning, the phrase is rendered in Italian by the present participle without any preposition.

Studiando si impára.	(Through) studying we learn.
Dovréi corrispóndere álla súa cortesia ascoltándola.	I ought to acknowledge her courtesy (by) listening to her.
Partêdo incontrò un amíco.	(On) going away he met a friend.
Copiando non fa erróri.	(In) copying he makes no mistakes.

3. To amuse one's self by . . . and to weary one's self by . . . are divertírsi a . . . and affannársi a . . . with the infinitive:

Si divérte a tirár sássi. He amuses himself throwing stones.

Some other verbs often take this construction.

71. Following are some other rules for the use of the infinitive and participles:

(a) When any verb is used as an auxiliary, the mood and tense are expressed in that verb, and not in the dependent infinitive (see 57).

Avréi potúto fárló. I could have done it.

(b) After fáre, to make or to have (=to cause), sentíre and udíre, to hear, and vedére, to see, the Italian present infinitive is used to render an English past participle. After lasciáre, to let, and often after the preposition da an Italian active infinitive is used to translate a passive one in English.

Si fa capíre.	He makes himself understood.
Farò fáre un páio di scárpe.	I shall have a pair of shoes made.
L' ho sentíto díre.	I have heard it said.
Lo víde ammazzáre.	He saw him killed.
Si láscia ingannáre.	He lets himself be deceived.
Non c' è niênte da fáre.	There is nothing to be done.

(c) The Italian past participle is inflected like any other adjective. The present participle (which was originally an ablative gerund) is invariable.

When in English the present participle is used adjectively, without any verbal force whatsoever, it is translated, not by the form we have called the participle, but by a verbal adjective, which can be formed from almost any Italian verb by changing the infinitive ending into -ánte for the first conjugation, and into -énte for the others. This adjective may be used substantively. It was originally a present participle, and some Italian writers have used it as such.

Quésti vási sóno rótti.

These vases are broken.

La dónna sta cucéndo.

The woman is sewing.

Stávano parlándo.

They were speaking.

Un animále parlánte.

A speaking animal.

Ácqua bollénte.

Boiling water.

Dúe amánti.

Two lovers.

(d) A whole conditional clause (or protasis) is often replaced in Italian by a present participle, or by an infinitive with a.

Andándovi lo vedrêbbe.

If he went there, he would see it.

A bucársi êsce il sâgue.

If you prick yourself, blood comes.

(e) Writers sometimes use, instead of a clause in indirect discourse, an infinitive followed by the word that would have been subject of the clause.

Dísse êssere quésto l' uómo che cercavámo.

He said this was the man we were looking for.

72. In negative commands the infinitive is always used instead of the second person singular of the imperative.

Trôvalo.

Find it.

Non lo trováre.

Do not find it.

But the negative of trovátelo is non lo trováte.

73. When an action is represented as having taken place and still continuing, the English uses the present perfect or past perfect tense, the Italian the present or the past descriptive.

Stúdio l' italiáno da ôtto mési.

I have studied Italian for eight months.

74. In subordinate clauses referring to the future and introduced by a conjunction of time, where the present is often used in English, the future tense must be employed in Italian.

Quándo vi andrò, gliélo dirò. When I go there, I'll tell him.

(a) The future is often used, without any idea of future time, to express probability.

Sarà uscito.

He has probably gone out.

Avrà mólto denáro.

He probably has a great deal of money.

75. The difference between the past descriptive (or imperfect) and the past absolute (or preterit) is this: the latter is used of an event that occurred at a definite date in the past, the former is used in a description or in speaking of an accessory circumstance or an habitual action in past time — the preterit is a narrative, the imperfect a descriptive tense.

The second past perfect (or preterit perfect) is used — instead of the past perfect (or pluperfect) — only after conjunctions meaning as soon as (appéna che, súbito che, tôsto che), and sometimes after quándo, when, or dópo che, after, when immediate sequence is denoted.¹

Entrò méntre dormivámo.

He came in while we slept.

Facévo così ógni mattína.

I did so every morning.

Lo féce l' áнно scorso.

He did it last year.

Tôsto che l' ebbe vísto, uscì.

As soon as he had seen it, he went.

(a) In conversation the present perfect is often used instead of the past absolute, when the event is not remote. This use is, however, far more restricted than it is in French.

Vi sóno andáto iêri.

I went there yesterday.

¹ It is used also in phrases like: in cinque minúti ebbe finíta la lèttera, in five minutes he had the letter finished.

76. The past future (or conditional), like the English should and would, has two uses: in indirect discourse after a principal verb in a past tense it expresses the tense which in direct discourse would be future¹; in the conclusion of a conditional sentence it is used when the conditional clause is (or, if expressed, would be) in the past subjunctive (see 77).

Dísse che lo farêbbe.
Se fósse véro lo crederêi.
Quêsta cása mi converrêbbe.

*He said he would do it.
If it were true, I should believe it.
This house would suit me.*

77. When a condition is contrary to present fact, or consists of a more or less unlikely supposition referring to future time,² the conditional clause has the past (or imperfect) subjunctive, the conclusion clause has the past future (or conditional).

If the unreal condition refers to past time, the conditional clause has the past perfect subjunctive, the conclusion clause has the past future perfect.³

Otherwise both condition and conclusion are in the indicative.

Se l' avéssi te lo darêi.
Se fósse tornáto l' avrêi vedúto.

*If I had it, I should give it thee.
If he had returned, I should have seen him.*

Se venísse nói ce ne andrémmo.
Se vi andássi morrêi.
Se non è véro è ben trováto.
Se lo féce sarà puníto.

*If he came, we should go.
If I should go there, I should die.
If it isn't true, it's a good invention.
If he did it, he will be punished.*

¹ The perfect of the future or the conditional is sometimes used where the simple tense would be expected: dísse che non l' avrêbbe fáto più, he said he would do it no more.

² Rendered in English by the past, or by the auxiliary should.

³ The imperfect indicative is occasionally used to replace the past or past perfect subjunctive of the condition (or protasis) and the past future or past future perfect of the conclusion (or apodosis): as se veníva, mi dicéva tútto, if he had come, he would have told me everything.

(a) The missing persons of the imperative are supplied from the present subjunctive. The past subjunctive is used to express a wish that is not likely to be realized.

Si accômodi.	Be seated (sing.).
Stíano zítiti.	Be quiet (plur.).
Sía púre.	Be it so.
Vêngano súbito.	Let them come at once.
Fósse púre!	Would it were so!

(b) When a relative clause restricts its antecedent to one of all its possible conditions or actions, the verb of that relative clause is in the subjunctive, — the present subjunctive if the verb on which it depends be present or future, the past if it be past or past future.

Non c' è animále più bellíno d' un gátto giòvane che fá- cia il chiásso.	There is no animal prettier than a kitten that is at play.
Dóve troveréte un giòvine che spôsi vói?	Where will you find a young man who will marry you?
Vorrèi vedére un bel quádro che non fósse antíco.	I should like to see a fine picture that is not old.

(c) The verb of a subordinate clause depending on an impersonal verb, on a superlative, or on one of the words first, last, and only, is in the subjunctive. This rule does not apply to reflexive verbs, nor to affirmative phrases meaning it is true or it is because.

Bisognò ch' ío vi andássi.	I had to go there.
È giústo che síano puníti.	It's right they should be punished.
Il più bello ch' ío conósca.	The finest that I know.
Si véde che non è così.	You see it isn't so.
È véro che ci sóno státo.	It's true that I've been there.

(d) The subjunctive is used after all conjunctions meaning although, as if, unless, provided that, in order that, in such a way that (denoting purpose), before, until (referring to future), whenever, wherever, without.

Benchè stía nascósto, lo tro- verò, dovúnque sía.	Although he be hidden, I shall find him, wherever he is.
Partirò a méno che égli non vênga.	I shall go unless he comes.

Lo féce perchè io veníssi.

He did it that I might come.

La divíse in môdo che le dúe párti fóssero uguáli.

He divided it in such a way that the two parts should be equal.

Aspétta finchè io tórni.

Wait until I return.

Párti sénza che ti véda.

Go without his seeing you.

(e) The subjunctive is used after the indefinite words and phrases quále che, qualúnque, chiúnque, checchè, per quánto.

Chiúnque vênga.

Whoever comes.

Qualúnque disgrázia che succêda.

Whatever misfortune happens.

Per quánte vólte ci váda.

However many times I go there.

Per quánto ricco égli sía.

However rich he may be.

(f) The verb of an indirect question is nearly always in the subjunctive when it depends on a main verb in a past tense.¹

Domándano se il re è môrto.

They ask whether the king is dead.

Domandò se il pádre fósse uscíto.

He asked whether his father was out.

(g) In a clause dependent on a verb of saying the subjunctive is used if the main verb is negative, or interrogative, or in a past tense.¹

It is generally not used, however, after an affirmative verb in a past tense when the author himself wishes to imply that the indirect statement is true.

Díce che la còsa è chiaríssima.

He says the thing is perfectly clear.

Non díco che quésto sía véro.

I don't say this is true.

Díssero che lo zío fósse amma-láto.

They said their uncle was ill.

Gli díssi che mi chiamáva Enríco.

I told him my name was Henry.

(h) The subjunctive is used after verbs expressing causation, concession, desire, emotion, prevention, and uncertainty: i.e., after verbs of bringing about; granting, permitting; commanding, hoping, requesting, wishing; fearing, regretting, rejoicing; forbidding, hindering; being ignorant, denying, disbelieving, doubting, expecting, pretending, supposing, suspecting, thinking. But speráre, to hope, very often does not take the subjunctive.

¹ The term past tense includes the past future.

Non so chi síano.

I don't know who they are.

Vorrèi che non fósse accadúto.

I wish it had not happened.

Supponiámo che sía prováto.

Let us suppose that it is proved.

Spèro che verrà.

I hope he will come.

(i) Se, if, is occasionally omitted before a past subjunctive; in this case the subject, if expressed, must follow the verb.

Saréi felice venísse égli.

I should be happy, should he come.

CONJUNCTIONS, PREPOSITIONS, AND ADVERBS

CONJUNCTIONS

78. The principal conjunctions are:

after, dópo che.

however (before an adj.), qualúnque, per quánto. X also, ánche, púre.

if, se (occasionally quándo, óve).

although, benchè X sebbène, non ostánte che. X

in case, cáso. X and, e.

in order that, perchè, acciochè, X affinchè. X as, cóme, quánto (after tánto).

much less, non che.

as (= since), siccóme, poichè.

neither . . . nor, nè . . . nè.

as fast as, vía vía che.

nevertheless, tuttavía, nondiméno,

as if, cóme se X quási. X però.

as long as, finchè.

nor, nè, nemméno, neppúre.

as well as, cóme ánco.

nor . . . either, nemméno, neppúre.

because, perchè.

nor even, neánche, neppúre.

before, prima che X avánti che. X not to say . . . but even, non che . . . ma.

both . . . and, e . . . e.

but, ma.

or, o, ovvéro, ossía.

either . . . or, o . . . o.

or else, ossía.

even if, ánche se, ancorchè.

provided that, purchè. X except that, se non che.

rather, ánzi.

for, chè.

since (temporal), dacchè.

granting that, dáto che. X since (causal), poichè, siccóme.

however (= nevertheless), però, púre.

so, dúnque, adúnque.

so that (result), di môdo che, sicchè.

so that (=in order that), perchè.

that (=in order that), perchè.

then, dunque.

therefore, dunque, però, perciò, adunque (at the beginning of a clause).

unless, a ménô che non, eccetto che non, sênza che.

where, dôve, ôve, là dôve.

whether, se.

while, mêntre, mêntre che.

The final vowel of ânce, che, dôve, neppûre, and ôve is generally elided before e or i.

(a) Of the above conjunctions the following require the subjunctive:

acciochè affinchè a ménô che non ancorchè avânti che benchè câso côme se dâto che dovunque eccetto che non non ostante che perchè meaning in order that per quânto prima che purchè qualunque quâsi sebbène sênza che

For the use of che, that, with the subjunctive, see 77, c, g, h. Côme is occasionally used for côme se, and then it takes the subjunctive. Finchè when referring to the future sometimes has the sense of finchè non, and then it generally takes the subjunctive. Se is followed by the subjunctive when it introduces an indirect question or statement dependent on a verb in a past tense, or a condition contrary to fact. Quâdo and ôve, meaning if, frequently take the subjunctive when se would not. — For examples, see 77, c, d, f, g, h.

(b) Che cannot be omitted in Italian as that is in English:¹

Disse che fôsse véro.

He said it was true.

Se can be omitted before an imperfect subjunctive (see 77, i).

¹ It is omitted, however, in the following peculiarly Italian construction: il ragâzzo paréva fôsse felice, the boy seemed to be happy; that is, between a verb of seeming and the subjunctive dependent on it, when in English the construction would be a verb of seeming with a dependent infinitive. It is occasionally omitted also after verbs of wishing, hoping, and fearing: as spéro mi scrîva prêsto, I hope you will write to me soon.

(c) E and o are often written ed and od before a vowel.

Mío pádre ed ío.

My father and I.

(d) Between a verb of motion and an infinitive and is rendered by the preposition a.

Andrò a cercárllo.

I'll go and look for it.

(e) When ánche, also or too, relates to a personal pronoun, the disjunctive form of that pronoun must follow ánche, even if some form of the same pronoun has already been expressed.

Andrémo ánche nói.

We shall go too.

Párte anch' égli.

He goes away too.

Trovái ánche lúi.

I found him too.

Vénnero anch' éssi.

They came too.

Lo or me lo diède ánche a me.

He gave it to me too.

Ti piáce ánche a te.

You like it too.

PREPOSITIONS

79. The principal prepositions are:

about (=approximately), círca.

about (=around), intórno a, attórno a.

after, dópo, dópo di.

along, lúngo.

among, fra, tra.

around, intórno a, attórno a.

as far as, fíno a, síno a.

as for, per, quánto a, in quánto a.

as to, rispétto a.

at, a.

before (time), príma di, innánzi.

before (place), davánti a, innánzi.

beside (place), accánto a.

between, fra, tra.

beyond, óltre, al di là di.

by, da, accánto a (=beside).

by means of, per mêzzo di.

during, duránte.

except, tránne, eccétto, fuôri di.

from, da, fin da.

in, in.

in front of, davánti a, innánzi.

inside of, déntro di.

instead of, invéce di.

in the midst of, in mêzzo a.

near, vicíno a.

of, di.

on to, su (before vowels, sur), sôpra.
out of, da, di, fuôri di.
outside of, fuôri di.
over, sôpra.
round and round, tórno tórno a.
since, da.
to, a.
toward, vêrso.

under, sôtto.
upon, su (before vowels, sur), sô-
 pra.
up to, fino a, sino a.
with, con.
within, fra, tra.
within (= inside of), déntro di.
without, sênza.
without (= outside of), fuôri di.

When governing a personal pronoun côntra, diêtro, dôpo, sênza, sôpra, sôtto, and often fra and vêrso take di after them:

sênza di me, without me.

fra di lôro, among themselves.

After con, in, per, a word beginning with s impure generally prefixes i:¹

la strâda, the street.

(a) To before the name of a country, after a verb of motion, is in.

Andiâmo in Frância.

Let us go to France.

(b) To before an infinitive is rendered in Italian as follows:

1. After the verbs

bastâre, suffice fâre, make sentîre, hear, feel bisognâre, need lasciâre, let solêre, be accustomed

convenîre, suit parêre, seem udîre, hear desiderâre, desire potêre, can, be able vedêre, see dovêre, must, ought sapêre, know volêre, wish to before a following infinitive is omitted. It is omitted also in exclamations and indirect questions consisting only of an interrogative and an infinitive.

Dovrêi capîre.

I ought to understand.

Bisôgna pensârci.

It is necessary to look out for it.

Potrêmo venîre.

We shall be able to come.

Non sa che fâre nè dôve avvôlgersi.

He doesn't know what to do nor where to turn.

2. After verbs of accustoming, attaining, beginning, compelling, continuing, hastening, helping, inviting, learning, preparing, teaching, and after verbs of motion, to before a following infinitive is a.

Andránno a vedér-la.

They will go to see her.

Si affrettò a rispóndere.†

He hastened to reply.

3. After all other verbs it is di; but to denoting purpose or result is per, and to indicating duty or necessity is da.

Gli díssi di scrívere.

I told him to write.

Mi è gráto di dírlo.

I am happy to say so.

Légge per divertírsi.

He reads to amuse himself.

È tróppo báссо per arrivárci.

He's too short to reach it.

Ho qualhecôsa da fáre.

I have something to do.

(c) By denoting the agent is da.

Fu fáttö da lui.

It was done by him.

(d) In is in; but when expressing future time it is fra.

Fra tre giòrni sarà finíto.

In three days it will be finished.

(e) For is per: as l' ha fáttö per me, he has done it for me. But, in the sense of since, in speaking of past time, for is da. For meaning during is omitted or translated duránte. Sentences like it is right for him to do it must be translated by che with the subjunctive: è giústo che lo fáccia.

Dimôra da mólti ánni a Firênze. He has lived for many years at Florence (see 73).

Resterò cínque settimáne.

I shall stay for five weeks.

Piôvve duránte un mése.

It rained for a month.

Bisógna ch' ío váda.

It is necessary for me to go.

(f) From is da; but before adverbs and sometimes after verbs of departing it is di. In speaking of time it is generally fin da.

Arríva da Parígi.

He arrives from Paris.

È lontáno di qua.

It is far from here.

Êseo di cása.

I go out of the house.

Fin dal princípio.

From the beginning.

(g) Da has, in addition to the meanings by, from, since, another sense hard to render in English: it may be translated as, charac- teristic of, destined for, such as to, or suited to, according to the context. Da means also at the house of or to the house of. Da corresponds to English on, at, or to before the word side, páрте, used in its literal sense.

Prométto da uômo d' onóre.

I promise as a man of honor.

Il Salvíni da Otéllò.

Salvini as Othello.

Saréste tánto buôno da veníre?

Would you be so good as to come?

Quésto è da sciôcchi.

This is acting like a fool.

Il bambíno ha un giudízio da gránde.

The child has the judgment of a grown person.

La sála da pránzo.

The dining-room.

Úna tázza da caffè.

A coffee-cup.

L' ho vedúto dal Signór Néri.

I saw him at Mr. Neri's.

Viêne da me.

He comes to my house.

Da quésta páрте.

On this side.

(h) A is often used before a noun — not indicating material (which is expressed by di) nor purpose (expressed by da) — that describes another noun, when in English these two substantives would form a compound word.

Úna mácechina a vapóre.

A steam-engine.

Úna sédia a dóndolo.

A rocking-chair.

Úno sgabéllo a tre piédi.

A three-legged stool.

(i) Èssere per or stáre per means to be about to.

Stáva per parláre.

He was on the point of speaking.

(j) In some idiomatic phrases di is used in Italian when another preposition would be employed in English.

Di giòrno, di nôtte.

By day, by night.

Èssere contênto di úna còsa.

To be satisfied with a thing.

Vívo di páne.

I live on bread.

Che facéva délle fôrbici?

What did he do with the scissors?

ADVERBS

80. 1. Adverbs, unless they begin the clause, are generally placed immediately after the verb; non, however, always precedes the verb. When a compound tense is used, the adverb nearly always follows the past participle, but già, mái, più, and sêmpre usually precede it. See also 84.

Non precedes a conjunctive and follows a disjunctive pronoun.

Non ci vado mái.

I never go there.

Ho parláto spêssò.

I have often spoken.

Non ha sêmpre parláto così.

He hasn't always talked so.

Io non lo védo.

I don't see him.

2. Adverbs are compared like adjectives (see 31); but better, worse, more, less are respectively mêglio, pêggio, più, méno.

81. Yes is sì or già: sì when it expresses real affirmation, già when it denotes passive assent. No is no. Not is non, after which a word beginning with s impure generally prefixes i. Or not at the end of a clause is o no:

Le piáce? — Sì.

Do you like it? — Yes.

Che tempáccio! — Già.

What nasty weather! — Yes.

Sta bêne? — No.

Is he well? — No.

Non istà bêne.

He isn't well.

Sía véro o no.

Whether it be true or not.

(a) What? meaning what do you say? is cóme? Che and the interjection o are often used to introduce questions.

Ô perchè non rispondéte? —

Why don't you answer? — What?

Cóme? — Che siête sórdo,

— Are you deaf, sir?

signóre?

(b) Very is mólto (see, however, 35, a). Instead of using a word or suffix for very, the Italians often repeat the emphasized adjective or adverb.

È mólto bêllo or è bellissimo.

It is very beautiful.

I suôi genitóri êrano pôveri

His parents were very poor.

pôveri.

82. Only may be translated by the adverb sólo, soltánto, or solaménte; or by the adjective sólo. When it modifies anything but a verb, it is often rendered by non . . . che, with the whole verb intervening, and with the word modified by only immediately after che.

Non ne ho compráto che dúe. I have bought only two of them.

83. Never is non . . . mái, with the inflected part of the verb intervening. Just, as an adverb of time, is or óra. Early is prêsto, per têmpo, or di buôn' óra. This morning is stamáne; last night is stanôtte. The day after to-morrow and the day before yesterday are respectively domán l' áltro and iêr l' áltro. A week, a fortnight from to-day are ôggi a ôtto, a quíndici. Ago is translated by fa, which follows the substantive of time; if this substantive is plural, ago may be rendered also by sóno (êrano or saránno if the date from which time is counted be past or future).

Non ti ha mái vedúto.

He has never seen thee.

Son arriváti or óra.

They have just arrived.

Tre ánni fa.

Three years ago.

Quáttro giórni sóno.

Four days ago.

Lunedì êrano dúe settimáne.

Two weeks ago Monday.

Dománi saránno cínque mési.

Five months ago to-morrow.

84. Here and there, when they denote a place already mentioned, and no particular stress is laid upon them, are ci and vi, which are often used in Italian when they would be superfluous in English; there is, there are, etc., are c' è or vi è, ci sóno or vi sóno, etc. (sometimes vi ha). Ci, vi, and also ne, thence, occupy the same positions with regard to the verb, and undergo the same changes, as the pronouns ci, vi, ne (48, 50); they precede conjunctive pronouns beginning with l or n, and follow all others: ce lo mánda, ti ci mándo.

When emphasized, here is qui or qua, there indicating a place near the person addressed is costì or costà, and there denoting a point remote from both speaker and hearer is lì or là.

Cárlo vi è tornáto.

Àlla scuòla non ci vádo.

Vói rimarréte costà, égli resterà laggiù, ed io non partirò di qui.

Charles has gone back there.

I don't go to school.

You will remain where you are, he will stay down there, and I shall not move from here.

(a) Here I am, here it is, etc., are êccomi, êccolo, etc.

85. Most adverbs of manner are formed by adding -mênte to the feminine singular of the corresponding adjective. Adjectives in -le and -re drop their final e in forming the adverb. See 35, a.

piacévole, pleasant.

francamênte, frankly.

felicemênte, happily.

piacevolmênte, pleasantly.

(a) So meaning it is translated lo:

Lo fáccio.

Lo créde.

Lo dícono.

I do so.

He thinks so.

They say so.

INDEFINITE PRONOUNS

86. One, people, we, you, they, used in an indefinite sense, are rendered in Italian by the reflexive construction with si (see 55).

Si cánta bène in Itália.)

Si fa cosí.

Se ne párla.

Si fáanno spéssso quéste còse.

They sing well in Italy. ;

You do this way.

People speak of it.

One often does these things.

87. All as a substantive is tútto (tútti, etc.):

Tacévano tútti.

All were silent.

The adjective all, the whole is tútto followed by the definite article.

Tútta la têrra.

The whole earth.

Tútto il giòrno.

All day.

Tútte le románe son bèle.

All Roman ladies are beautiful.

88. Any, when it really adds nothing to the sense, is omitted:

Non ha líbri.

He hasn't (any) books.

Voléte víno?

Do you want (any) wine?

When, however, this redundant any might be replaced by any of the, it is translated by the partitive construction (see 12, a):

Voléte del víno?

Do you want any (of the) wine?

Any used substantively in the sense of any of it, any of them is ne (see 47, 3):

Non ne ho.

I haven't any.

Non ne ha più.

He hasn't any more.

Ne avéte?

Have you any?

Any used adjectively and meaning any whatsoever is qualúnque:

Lo fa mēglío di qualúnque
áltra persóna.

He does it better than any other person.

89. Some, when it adds nothing to the sense, is omitted or rendered by the partitive construction:

Voléte búrra or voléte del búrro?

Will you have some butter?

Some meaning some of it, some of them is ne:

Ne ha.

He has some.

Otherwise some is alcúno or quálche. Quálche is always singular (even when the meaning is plural), and is never used substantively.

Alcúne persóne or quálche Some persons.

persóna.

Alcúni lo dicono. Some say so.

90. Some . . . others, the one . . . the other, one . . . another are translated by chi . . . chi, áltri . . . áltri, l' úno . . . l' áltro, or alcúni . . . alcúni.

Alcúni used in this way is always plural. A verb whose subject is chi or áltri (used in this sense) is always singular; altri is not used after prepositions. But l' úno and l' áltro can be used in any case or number.

Tútti, chi più tôsto, e chi All died, some sooner, some later.
méno, morivano.

Áltri cáde, áltri fúgge. Some fall, others flee.

Gli úni son buòni, gli áltri Some are good, others bad.
cattívi.

91. Following is a list of some other indefinite pronouns and adjectives:

nothing else , non . . . più niênte , non . . . più núlla , pron.	such , tále , adj.
others , altrúi (see 91, d), pron.	such a , un tále , adj. (but also pron. in Ital., meaning so-and-so).
several , parécchi (fem. parécchie), pron. or adj.	whatever , qualúnque (invariable), adj.

(a) The verb used with nessúno, alcúno, niênte, núlla (meaning no, nobody, nothing) must be preceded by non, not, unless this pronoun or adjective precedes the verb.

Non ho vísto nessúno .	I have seen nobody.
Nessún pôpolo lo possiêde.	No people possesses it.

(b) Nothing, followed by an adjective, is niênte di.

Non avête niênte di buôno.	You have nothing good.
--	-------------------------------

(c) Ciascúno, ciaschedúno, ognúno, nessúno, and alcúno when used adjectively are inflected like úno (see 14, 15).

(d) Altrúi, another, others, our neighbor, is invariable, and is not used as subject of a verb:

Con altrúi .	With other people.
Chi áma altrúi áma sè stéssu.	He who loves his neighbor loves himself.

The prepositions di and a are sometimes omitted before it:

La móstro altrúi .	I point her out to others.
La vôglia altrúi .	The will of another.

LIST OF IRREGULAR VERBS

Arranged according to Conjugation.¹

92. This list contains no compound verbs except those which differ in conjugation from their simple verbs and those for which no simple verb exists in Italian. With every verb its irregular forms are given: in the same line with the infinitive are the present participle (if it be needed to show the original form of the infinitive), the first person singular of the past absolute indicative, the past participle, and the first person singular of the future indicative (if the future be contracted); immediately below are the present indicative, the imperative, and the present subjunctive, if these parts be peculiar. For dâre and stâre the whole past absolute and the first person singular of the past subjunctive are given also. Êssere is irregular throughout. All tenses not mentioned are regular. For peculiar endings, see 63, 68. Note the following rules:

(a) If the present participle is given, the following forms, unless expressly mentioned, are to be constructed from its stem: all past absolute forms with accented endings, and the whole past descriptive and past subjunctive. E.g., fâre, pres. part. facêdo: hence past abs. 2d sing. and 1st and 2d pl., facésti, facémmo, facéste; past descr., facéva, etc.; past subj., facéssi, etc.

If the present participle is not given, these forms, unless they be mentioned, are to be constructed from the stem of the infinitive. E.g., venîre: past abs., venísti, venímmo, veníste; past descr., veníva; past subj., veníssi.

(b) A past absolute whose 1st pers. sing. ends in -âi, -êi, -îi, or -êtti (except dêtti and stêtti) is regular throughout. In any other past absolute the third person singular can be formed from the first person by changing final i to e, and the third person plural by adding -ro to the third person singular. E.g., fáre, p. abs. féci: 3d sing., féce; 3d pl., fécero.

(c) If the future is not given, it is to be constructed from the infinitive. The past future always has the same stem as the future. See 65, p. 57.

(d) The imperative, when not given, is like the corresponding forms of the present indicative. See 66, b.

ALPHABETICAL LIST OF IRREGULAR AND DEFECTIVE VERBS

93. Every irregular verb in this list is followed by a number referring to the table of Irregular Verbs arranged according to Conjugation. Obsolete defective verbs that present no irregularity have not been mentioned.

(a) Compound verbs have, in general, been excluded from this list, unless they differ in conjugation from the simple verbs from which they come (see 67, a). The commonest prefixes are: a- (corresponding in meaning to the preposition a); as- (=Latin abs-); co-, com-, con-, cor- (=prep. con); contra- (=prep. cóntra); de-, di- (=Lat. de-); dis- (=Lat. dis-); e-, es- (=Lat. ex-); i-, im-, in-, ir- (=prep. in); o- (=Lat. ob); per- (=prep. per); pre- (=Lat. prae-); pro- (=Lat. pro-); r-, re-, ri- (=Lat. re-); s- (=Lat. ex- or dis-); so-, sos-, su- (=Lat. sub); sopra-, sopr-, sor- (=prep. sópra); sott-, sotto- (=prep. sótto); stra- (=Lat. extra); tra- (=prep. tra). After several of these prefixes the initial consonant of the simple verb is generally found doubled: a+ca-dére=accadére. S- is sometimes combined with con-, r- with a- or in-: scoscéndere, raccôgliere, rincórrere.

what is the name of?

domandáre, to ask.¹

incontráre, to meet.

lasciáre, to leave, let.²

mandáre, to send.

mostráre, to show.

presentáre, to present.

prestáre, to lend.

raccontáre, to narrate, tell, tell about.¹

ringraziáre, to thank.

¹ The personal object of domandáre or raccontáre is indirect: gli domandái, 'I asked him'; le raccontái, 'I told her.'

² Lasciáre is to be used in translating 'let' only when the idea is one of permission rather than one of command. For example, if 'let him speak' really means 'I command that he speak,' it is to be translated párli; if it really means 'allow him to speak,' it is to be translated lasciátelo parláre.

5. Translate: vi aspétto, ne cercáva, ce lo cantárono, ne parláste, non ne avrèbbe, êccoli, portándoglielo, ripetéteglielo, gliéne parlerò, bisógna portárglielo, êccola, ce li cedétte, portiámogliene, me le mandò?, gliélo prestái, ve lo spiegheránno, mandátemeli, gliélo prèstino, mi si presènta, gli si presèntano, se lo presèntano, lo mostrái lóro, ve ne mandárono?, me lo spièghi, gliélo presteréte?

NOTE ON READING ITALIAN VERSE

In reading Italian verse the verbal stress is the same as in prose. There is no such artificial shifting of the stress as in Latin scansion.

Two adjacent vowels in the same word are usually to be pronounced as belonging to the same syllable, the voice gliding quickly from the first vowel to the second. They are however to be pronounced as belonging to separate syllables (1) when the first is a, e, or o and the second is stressed; (2) when the first of the two vowels is the last stressed vowel of the line; (3) in some other cases (there is one instance in Exercise E, line 4: trionfále).

Two vowels standing one at the end of a word and the other at the beginning of the next word and not separated by a mark of punctuation are usually to be pronounced, also, as belonging to the same syllable. (There are no exceptions in these exercises. Exceptions occur when the first of the two vowels is stressed or is immediately preceded by a stressed vowel, and in some other cases.) If the two vowels are different, the voice glides quickly from the first to the second; if they are identical, they are pronounced as a single long vowel.

Two adjacent vowels separated by a mark of pronunciation are to be pronounced as belonging to separate syllables; though as a matter of technical versification they are arbitrarily reckoned as belonging to the same syllable, unless they are of one of the types referred to as exceptional.
